NIGHT DEAD IN WRECK; OVER FIFTY INJURED.

Funeral Party Meets Terrible Accident On New York-New Haven Railway.

Miss Helen Gould, En Route to Chicago, a Victim in a Catastrophe Near Buffalo in Which Three Are Fatally Injured and Nearly a Score Hurt—Two Killed in Nevada; Fifty Injured in Pittsburgh, Pa.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 3.—[Special Dispatch.] Three wrecks of fast expresses in three adjoining States add to the death toll on the rail today.

At Westport, Ct., one of the most appalling wrecks of recent times occurred. The Boston and New York express jumped the track. At least eight were killed and fifty injured, many of them noted persons who had attended the funeral of Millionaire Patrick Garvan at Hartford.

Miss Helen Gould was shaken up; Miss Katherine Flynn of San Francisco and eighteen others were seriously, and three fatally injured in a collision between a West Shore express and a freight train near Buffalo.

The Iron City express ran into a freight train near Lancaster, Pa., and several persons were injured.

Heavyweight Woman Crashes Through Bank Skylight and Is Unhurt.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] HAMMOND (Ind.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When Mrs. Mary Bopa, weighing 235 pounds, came crashing through the skylight of the Indiana Harbor State Bank today during business hours she escaped practically unhurt, but scared the wits out of the bank officials, who immediately thought of dynamite explosions or some other scheme to rob the bank. Mrs. Bopa lives in a flat adjoining the bank building and uses the bank roof as a place on which to dry her clothing. In hanging out the Bopa wash she tripped over a basket and plunged through the skylight, landing with a mighty, squasy kerplunk. Aside from slightly ruffled dignity and a few bruises she was none the worse for the experience.

TURK WAR SPIRIT AT FEVER HEAT.

THRONGS IN CONSTANTINOPLE CLAMOR FOR CONFLICT.

Balkan States Delay Presenting Ultimatum to Sublime Porte, but Armed Clashes Continue on Serbian Frontier, and Bulgarian Troops Reported to Have Crossed Border.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Wireless from Chicago to the Times.]

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Owing to pressure by the powers the Balkan States did not present their ultimatum to Turkey today as promised. A modified memorandum was prepared asking for a system of general European control in Macedonia. On the other hand, there is the disquieting fact that the Turks are now clamoring for war.

On the whole, the situation is not any more hopeful than it was twenty-four hours ago. The lower in Constantinople assignments almost hourly. The Daily Chronicle correspondent draws a graphic picture of the scenes in the street, which are arising in the streets. Crowds surround the Sublime Porte in momentary expectation of a declaration of war. Women and children carrying Turkish flags are dard and headed by bands playing martial music march through Istanbul. Soldiers embrace each other, swearing to die or conquer. Mosques are packed with crowds to whom the priests preach the need for a united front and courage to the last drop of blood.

On foot, horseback and in carriages the main streets shouting "Down with Bulgaria, Serbia and Greece; long live the Sultan!"

GOVERNMENT BELLICOSE.

Not only the Turkish people, but the Turkish government is adopting a more bellicose attitude and the hopeful tone induced by the delay in the presentation of the Balkan States ultimatum is counteracted by the tone of the note of the Porte presented to the powers. "Turkey," it says, "in view of the Balkan mobilizations reserves to herself full liberty of action in the conviction that the world will not fail to take cognizance of the justness of her position. This is a statement of considerable gravity, indicating she intends to take her own course irrespective of the advice of the powers."

ROUMANIA, PASSIVE.

So far, Roumania is remaining passive. Her army is not mobilized though events are being closely watched. Alfred Stead defines the position of Roumania as follows: "There is no reason to take action. She seeks no territorial aggrandizement."

REAR DOOR FOR GUESTS.

Calhoun May Buy Roadway to Prevent Humiliation to Georgia of Daughter's Wedding in Cleveland.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] CLEVELAND, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fashionable guests at the coming wedding of Miss Martha Calhoun and William B. Hickox at the Calhoun residence, Derbyshire Road, may be forced to use the back door to enter the mansion. Derbyshire Road in front of the house is going to be sold by the Sheriff two days before the wedding, which is set for October 12. Patrick Calhoun, traction magnate, may buy the road himself to prevent humiliation of the guests at his daughter's wedding.

The Calhoun home will not be sold at the sale, although Calhoun says the building belongs to the Euclid Heights Realty Company, whose property is being disposed of. The reason given by the creditors' attorney is that the general mortgage on the realty company, which Calhoun promoted, does not cover Calhoun's home, but the road in front of the Calhoun home is never dedicated to the village and the mortgage covers it. It will be sold. Calhoun can keep his front entrance by buying it, otherwise guests at the wedding will enter from Cedar Road in the rear. Calhoun has intimated he expects to find financial backing in his effort to buy up the property at the Sheriff's sale. Hickox, his son-in-law-to-be, is the wealthiest bachelor in Cleveland.

MOTIVE MAY BE SHOWN IN DYNAMITE TRIAL.

Judge Anderson at Indianapolis Rules that Evidence Will Be Admitted to Prove What Was Done With Explosives—Jury Consists of Ten Farmers and Two Business Men.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) Oct. 3.—Not only evidence of the alleged illegal interstate shipment of dynamite and nitroglycerine but also evidence as to what was done with the explosives will be admitted at the trial of the forty-six men accused of complicity in the "dynamite plot." Federal Judge Anderson so ruled today. His decision, thus opening to the prosecution the right to show a motive by going into the details of many explosions, including that which wrecked the Los Angeles Times Building, October 1, 1910, followed the opening statement by Dist. Atty. Miller.

OPENING STATEMENT.

Addressing the jury and pointing his finger at Frank M. Ryan and the forty-five other men seated three deep across the courtroom, Mr. Miller said the trial was of the instigators of the "most far-reaching conspiracy in the history of this country, in which during more than five years property of incalculable value had been destroyed and many, many lives had been lost."

Mr. Miller said the government would prove that the defendants, all of whom were former or present officials of labor unions, entered into a conspiracy to blow up the "jobs" of employers of non-union labor.

"We will show that dynamite and nitroglycerine were carried from a place in one State to a place in another State on passenger trains on which thousands of men, women and children were traveling," said Mr. Miller. "Evidence will show that an infernal machine was devised which was a charge of explosive with a long fuse attached was set off by an alarm clock, so the dynamites could be hundreds of miles away when their destructive work was accomplished."

BARON KILLS HIMSELF FOR SAKE OF MODISTE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND BY WIRELESS FROM CHICAGO TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Baron Von Reden, the newly appointed German Minister to Abyssinia, shot and killed a woman and then committed suicide yesterday at Lemberg, Galicia, where he was acting as German Consul. His death was the result of a love affair which had become a tragedy.

It is stated that the Baron had known the woman he killed, Fraulein Pirschke, a dressmaker, for thirteen years. Her widowed mother tolerated their friendship, expecting that it would lead to marriage some day, and in the meantime, Fraulein Pirschke supported herself by conducting a dressmaking business at Charlottenburg. This provided her with

"They Had No Limit," Witness Said in Referring to the Demands Made Upon Him by the Rough Rider's Expert Collectors—Revelations Make Clear that Contributions Were Meant for Roosevelt Only.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 3.—[Special Dispatch.] With grim humor and the utmost frankness, J. Pierpont Morgan, reckoned as the most potent financial factor in the world, told today before the Clapp Investigating Committee how the handy men of Theodore Roosevelt came to his office, hat in hand, and carried away $150,000, which was the Morgan firm's contribution to the colonel's campaign in 1904. In a resonant, melodious voice, touched with a note of authority that bespoke the habit of being obeyed, Mr. Morgan gave a word picture of the campaign of 1904 that has not been duplicated by any of the witnesses before the Senate committee. It was a picture of George B. Cortelyou, the personal representative of Roosevelt, who had pleaded guilty, and frequent intervals of Cornelius N. Bliss, the Roosevelt treasurer, gently hinting that more money was needed; of pools being raised in the colonel's interest and of the subtle methods by which the word circulated through the financial district that this candidate or the other is favored.

NO CONCERTED ACTION.

There was no "concert of action," as Morgan expressed it. He talked to thousands of men who dropped into his office to talk over the campaign. He had made one contribution of $100,000 to the national campaign "without any hope of reward," but later, when Bliss dropped in and observed that there was serious danger that Roosevelt would lose New York State, Mr. Morgan chipped in another $50,000, making $150,000.

George W. Perkins, then a partner of Morgan, and now the chief financial backer of Col. Roosevelt, was very firmly planted on the job, even in those days.

MR. MORGAN AS PHILOSOPHER.

Mr. Morgan said, when asked whether the insurance companies were contributing much in 1904: "I don't know. I never heard anything about the insurance companies except through Mr. Perkins, who was a trustee of the New York Life. Of course, when he came in from the meetings, I would say: 'Perkins, how do they feel around there today?' He would tell me. I do not remember the details, however."

MR. PERKINS AND MR. MORGAN.

THE FORMER HAVING CONTRIBUTED $100,000 TO THE FUND AND THE LATTER, AS SHOWN BY HIS TESTIMONY, $150,000. WHEN LATER GIVEN AUTHORITY BY PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TO BUY THE TENNESSEE COAL AND IRON COMPANY FOR THE UNITED STATES STEEL CORPORATION.

One of Mr. Morgan's partners became a member of Roosevelt's cabinet and Morgan's Assistant Secretary of the Navy. Mr. Perkins, former partner of Mr. Morgan, is today financing Roosevelt's third-term aspirations. Such are the damaging facts that Roosevelt will have to answer tomorrow, when, accompanied by a band at the head of a parade of District Bull Moose men, he will go from the railroad station to the Senate office building to testify to his knowledge of the slush funds of 1904 and 1912.

MORGAN NOT ANXIOUS ABOUT WITNESS FEES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—J. Pierpont Morgan told the Senate Campaign Contributions Committee today that while he had contributed $100,000 to the last two Republican Presidential campaigns, the gifts were made without expectation of return.

After saying he had contributed $150,000 to the fund of 1904, and $100,000 to the fund of 1908, Mr. Morgan turned to the committee and so exclaimed earnestly: "Well, I think they should have shown some gratitude over the total."

"But after you had made the first contribution you must have been surprised when they came back for more."

"I got accustomed to it." "Did Mr. Cortelyou, Mr. Bliss, Odell or any of them express their gratitude?" "No," said the witness, "gratitude

PHOENIX GETS NEXT CONGRESS.

Convention Wants Federal Control of Water.

Irrigationists Recognize Both

Graves Favors Conservation of Timber Lands.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 3.—With the election of officers, the twentieth international irrigation congress adjourning to meet next year at Phoenix, Ariz. Tonight the delegates attended a ball and reception given in their honor.

Richard W. Young of Salt Lake City was elected president by unanimous vote. At the last moment the several cities that sought the next congress withdrew in favor of Phoenix.

Other officers named were John Fairweather, Fresno, Cal., vice-president, and Arthur Hooker, secretary.
FOR FEDERAL CONTROL.
The report of the Resolutions Committee was adopted by the congress as a declaration of principles. The declaration asserts that Federal control as between the States is essential to a equitable distribution of the water of interstate streams; it renews the admonition of the congress of the Newlands River regulation bill, and favors its extension and recognizes the establishment of the United States reclamation service as second only in importance to the passing of the reclamation act.

According to the declaration, the service should require that all contracts for the sale of power developed by a reclamation project shall be approved by a water users' association under such a project.

THE RESOLUTION.
The following was included in the resolutions:
"Resolved, That the International Irrigation Congress co-operate to the fullest extent with the Panama California exposition in order to secure the most elaborate and comprehensive international irrigation exhibit that has ever been assembled."

"We invite the attention of the president and directors of the Panama-Pacific Exposition to the propriety of making provision for an adequate exhibit of irrigated States at the San Francisco exposition."

—NATIONAL FORESTRY.

The principal address of the day was made by Henry S. Graves, United States forester. "Within the last three years," he said, "there has been an agitation in certain quarters that the government abandon its policy of national forestry and turn its national forests over to the States. Underlying this question is another which must really be settled by the same authorities, namely, whether the national forests shall be parcelled out to individuals and corporations and forest conservation as a public policy abandoned."

"The first national interest in these lands is that of the continuance of their production. It is imperative to the whole nation that these areas be handled with care and their productiveness increased. The second great national interest is the preservation of navigable rivers and interstate waters. Their practical conservation, which is really conclusive, is that the protection, administration and improvement of the national forests involve a financial burden which the States could not carry."

MISSISSIPPI IMPROVEMENT.
Victor Falkenstein of Chicago in the discussion that opened the last day's session of the congress advocated the transfer of the machinery now in use on the Panama Canal, upon completion of the canal, to the headwaters of the Mississippi to improve that waterway. His suggestion precipitated a discussion that indicated the congress was in favor of the undertaking.

FROM THE COLONEL.

The following communication from Col. Roosevelt was read by Mr. Falkenstein:
"Through you, I wish to congratulate the congress on its work. I most earnestly believe that we are yet only on the threshold of accomplishing through irrigation all that can be accomplished in this country. I feel that it is necessary for the nation to undertake, in comprehensive form and as part of a well-considered general scheme, the work of utilizing our waters, treating in connection with another the irrigation of the arid lands and semi-arid lands, the drainage of the swamp lands, the utilization of the water power in harvest of the public at large, the protection of our people from floods, and the storage of flood waters so as to make the rivers navigable highways at all seasons. Moreover, the conservation of our forests on the drainage slopes of the lead waters must nationally be considered in connection with the preservation of water for irrigation purposes and with the prevention of floods. One of the measures of my administration of which I am proud, was the establishment of the reclamation service."

The charges assessed upon settlers as the result of government reclamation work has brought up for consideration by J. B. Hoagland of North Dakota, Neb., who argued that the water users were made to bear too heavy a burden.

John Fairweather, of Fresno, Cal., replied that if the people paid back every dollar expended by reclamation service the land would be worth many times more than the money expended.
Senator Francis G. Newlands urged a more tolerant spirit toward the reclamation service.

Canine Survives Three Sticks of Dynamite and Drop into Deep Well.

(A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
CHICO (Cal.) Oct. 3.—"A dog's life might not be so bad, after all," meditated William Meek to day, as he dodged the muddy carcasses of a valuable hunting dog which had just rescued himself from a 75-foot well. When the dog fell into the abandoned well, Meek despaired of rescuing him, so he threw three sticks of dynamite down the shaft to end his misery. When the noise of the explosion died away the dog was still whining and paddling around the walls. Meek started home for a gun. As he approached the house, the dog ran out to meet him. Investigation showed that the dynamite had opened up an old tunnel running into the well, and the dog had escaped with the rush of gale.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SALISBURY (Or.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gov. West today granted a pardon to W. R. Foote, an aged farmer, who shot and killed Charles Wilcox at Coquille, because of a story told him by two of his daughters.
The oldest daughter was only 17 years old. Foote was received at the penitentiary about a week ago. The Governor immediately placed him on parole swatting such time as he could secure further particulars of the case.
This information was given to the Governor immediately announced his pardon.

At the first trial of Foote the jury hung six to six. At the second trial, rather than have his jury testify again, Foote pleaded guilty to manslaughter, and was sentenced to five years. He will now return to his aged wife, whose intense grief over her daughter's disgrace drove the old man to slay Wilcox.

It was brought out at Foote's trial that before he shot the man, he twice tried to cause his arrest, and that the officers of Coos county had declined to act.

Immigration Employees Make Conspiracy Charge.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—Federal immigration officials arrested Shotaro Washio and Tetsuhiro, Japanese, here today, on charges of having conspired with Albert Henry Young, a former law student of the University of Washington, in kidnaping Hano Sato, a Japanese girl. Young was arrested in Seattle today, with H. K. Sugura, a Japanese interpreter, who also was named in the charges.

INCOMMUNICADO.

Hano Sato, who is said to be one of the most beautiful Japanese women on the Pacific Coast, was found by immigration inspectors here today.
It is charged that Young and Sugura secreted the girl in Tacoma, and represented to her that they were immigration officials of San Francisco with a warrant for her arrest. She was taken to Seattle and it is said confined in a room for a week without being allowed to communicate with friends. She was then sent to San Francisco.

According to the government officials, the girl was met at the wharf here by Washio and Tetsuhiro and taken to the house where she was found today.

NOTORIETY.

Young gained notoriety several months ago, when he sought naturalization here. As the son of a German father and Japanese mother, he set up the claim that he was a German. Judges Hanford and Cushman denied his eligibility to citizenship.
The Japanese arrested here will be taken to Seattle for trial.

Elimination of Speculative Buying Results in Fast Increase in Cali-

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—More than 60,000 tons of California canned and dried fruit will be shipped to Europe before this season closes, according to figures compiled by traffic men here.
The tremendous growth in this trade during the past two years is said to be due largely to the elimination of speculative buying. Producers are receiving fairly good prices as in former years, but European consumers are getting the benefit of a much lower price, with the result that a still greater increase in the trade is expected in succeeding years.

Old Windsor Chair

(One of the many fine reproductions of famous furniture in Barker Bros. stock.)

ONE can but wonder what ease-loving wight conceived the idea of the first Old Windsor Armchair.
No straight-backed Puritan he, judging by this bit of evidence; but a jovial soul and of rotund proportions
—a King Cole sort, who, sitting with utter content as he settled back into its capacious hold and pronounced it good, may well have exclaimed, "All this, and Heaven beside!"

Not selected and beautifully finished mahogany, it is substantial, though light in construction. The deep seat rests on handsomely turned spreading legs, and is at just the right height from the floor, while the characteristic "bow back" forms a generous curve, to shape which the spindles slant back at a restful angle.

Adapted to any room as a handsome odd piece, an Old Windsor chair or rocker is also so plainly suited to every-day needs that it might well be reckoned among "the must haves" of every family. Is there not a place awaiting one of these chairs in YOUR home?

MORGAN'S COLOSSAL GIFT TO THE ROOSEVELT FUND.

Financier Admits He Contributed One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars in Addition to Pile of Money Shoveled Into the Rough Rider's Gullet by Standard Oil Men—Fails to Sign Voucher for Witness Fees.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—J. Pierpont Morgan proved a willing witness today before the Clapp committee investigating campaign expenditures. He testified he had given $150,000 to the Republican campaign of 1904 and $250,000 to the Republican campaign of 1908.

In an hour's questioning Mr. Morgan denied emphatically the charge by Charles Edward Russell of New York that President Roosevelt had once telephoned for a campaign contribution, declared he never had any communication with President Roosevelt, and asserted he knew of no conference among financial men in 1904 or 1908 to agree on supporting Republican or Democratic Presidential candidates.

His first appearance on the witness stand for many years, Mr. Morgan appeared willing to answer all questions. He confirmed the testimony yesterday of George R. Sheldon that he had given $150,000 to the Republican national fund of 1904, and that he had later given $250,000 to the so-called "Harriman fund" of $250,000 raised for the New York State Committee.

Mr. Morgan asserted no contribution had ever been given by his firm or himself with the idea of obtaining any favors. He was especially interested in the 1904 campaign, he said, solely for the welfare of the country and the people at large. That was the only interest, he said, that had guided him in making contributions to political parties.

MORGAN IN THE CHAIR.
Mr. Morgan reached the committee room before the hour set for the hearing, accompanied by his son-in-law, Robert L. Bletcher.

The financier, seated at his desk, watched the members of the committee closely. "Give the photographer your name, please," said Chairman Clapp.

"Your address?"
"No. 219 Madison avenue, New York."

"Your business?"
"Banker."

Chairman Clapp called Mr. Morgan's attention to a published article by Charles Edward Russell, charging President Roosevelt had demanded that Mr. Morgan raise $100,000 for his campaign and that Wayne MacVeagh had been present when Mr. Morgan talked with the White House over the telephone.

"Do you remember any such incident?" asked Senator Clapp.

"Nothing whatever," replied Mr. Morgan, emphatically. "I never responded over the telephone, telegraph or by mail with President Roosevelt that I know of."

Mr. Perkins was a director of the New York Life Insurance Company and he probably talked with me about their interests, but I can't remember any specific conversation."

"Did Mr. Harriman ever tell you he had a talk with Mr. Roosevelt about railroad interests?" asked Senator Pomerene.

"I remember no such conversation."

MORGAN'S STATEMENT.
The financier here interrupted the examination to say:

"Mr. Chairman, I want to make a statement right here."

"I want it distinctly understood," Mr. Morgan said, emphatically, "that a single subscription to any election with any promise or expectation of any return, in any shape or manner, and we never made a subscription unless we thought it for the best interests of the government and the people. We never had a communication from any candidate, we never had an application from any candidate. The only interest we had was in the welfare of the public. We never expected any returns, and we never got any."

THE PRESENT CAMPAIGN.
"During this campaign there has been any intention on your part to support the Democratic campaign?" asked Senator Pomerene.

"I never heard of it, if there was," replied Mr. Morgan. "If we had thought the election of a Democrat was for the best interest of the country, we would have contributed to his campaign."

Mr. Morgan, responding to another question about a "conference," said that he thought he was being asked to know whether there had been a small conference of large financiers looking to the election of Col. Roosevelt, but he had no knowledge of such.

"Did you, or Mellen, or Mr. Harriman call on any of the financial men in New York in the interest of the Republican campaign that year?"

"I don't think so; I never heard of such a thing."

"Was there at any time any conference among financial interests looking toward the nomination of a Democratic candidate that would be suitable to the financial interests of New York?"

"I know of nothing of the kind."

"Were you at the office of the Union Pacific Railroad Company in 1904?"

"No, I was never in that office," replied Mr. Morgan.

"Did you ever meet Mr. Harriman and Mr. Mellen in Mr. Harriman's office to talk over these matters?" asked Senator Pomerene.

Mr. Morgan responded he never had been in Mr. Harriman's office, and very seldom had talked with Mr. Harriman in that connection about the political situation.

"Did you ever see Mr. Cortelyou in his office 'several times,' and thought the visits were before the contribution of $150,000?"

"Was anything said by Mr. Cortelyou as to the amount they desired to raise?"

"I don't think there was any hint," replied Mr. Morgan with a chuckle. "I think they would have taken any amount they could get."

The spectators joined Mr. Morgan in a laugh.

Under questions by Mr. Pomerene, down from the witness chair, saying: "Can't I sit down here near you, I can't hear very well?"

He took a chair from one of the official stenographers and moved it within a few feet of Senator Pomerene.

Senator Pomerene then asked whether the members of the firm of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., specifying George W. Perkins, had contributed in 1904. Mr. Morgan did not know.

"Did your firm contribute to the campaign funds of any other political parties in 1904?" asked Mr. Pomerene.

"No sir, I did not and I have no knowledge of anyone else so contributing."

Mr. Pomerene asked about "conferences" with George B. Cortelyou. Mr. Morgan said he talked with Mr. Cortelyou in 1907 over the financial situation, but he recalled only one conference over politics.

"Did you talk with President Mellen of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad in 1904?"

"Yes."

"Did you talk with representatives of the big insurance companies about the political situation during the campaign?"

"No, I talked to many people. Many people came in to see me every day."

"Do you remember any conference of big financial interests on the question of whom the interests would support for President?"

"No, I remember no such conference."

"When was it first determined that the financial interests would support the Republican nominee?" asked Pomerene.

"I never had any conference on the point," returned Mr. Morgan. "The $150,000 contribution was again brought up and Senator Pomerene asked whether Mr. Bliss was giving any special aid."

"No; that was the contribution we would make in the regular course if we were especially interested in the campaign," said Mr. Morgan.

"Were you especially interested in the campaign of 1904?"

"Yes, we were."

"Was Mr. Harriman especially interested in that campaign?"

"I really do not know."

"Were the insurance companies especially interested in this campaign?"

"I do not know; there was never any concerted action by me with any of the insurance companies."

Mr. Morgan, emphatically, "I never responded over the telephone, telegraph or by mail with President Roosevelt that I know of."

Mr. Perkins was a director of the New York Life Insurance Company and he probably talked with me about their interests, but I can't remember any specific conversation."

REPUBLICANS FOR WILSON.

Sacramento County Club Scores Progressives.

Says Bull Moose Legislators Repudiated Oath.

Leaders Declare for Democratic Nominee.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Last night in the office of former Senator J. A. McKee nearly two hundred Republicans met, organized the Republican Club of Sacramento county, and elected William Buckmaster president and Frank J. O'Brien secretary. There was no half-way stopping place for the Republicans who signed the club roll. It was announced forcibly that they met to take steps which would place them squarely before the people, and against the legislative candidates of the Progressives, who they said, had repudiated their oath when they announced themselves in favor of Roosevelt and Johnson, and refused to vote for candidates for electors pledged to vote for Taft.

There was a deal of enthusiasm at the meeting, which was called by J. M. Higgins, State Central Republican committeeman for Sacramento.

Higgins briefly outlined the purpose of the meeting, after which William Buckmaster, president of the People's Bank and a pioneer, was unanimously elected president, and Frank J. O'Brien, secretary. The resolutions passed were as follows:

Resolved, That the Republican Club of Sacramento county will do everything in its power to elect to office the Democratic candidates for the Legislature in the county.

Resolved, That the leaders of the new organization are outspoken in favor of Wilson.

It is pointed out that the Republican Club of Sacramento county will do everything in its power to elect to office the Democratic candidates for the Legislature in the county.

HADLEY TRUE TO HIS PARTY.

Addresses Republican Rally at Indianapolis Today.

Roosevelt Campaign Finance Shatters Illusion.

Four Heavyweight Orators at Illinois Fair.

CHICAGO, Bureau of the Times, Oct. 3.—[Special Dispatch.] Gov. Hadley announced his intention to address two big Republican rallies in Indianapolis, Friday night. This aroused the enthusiasm, as well as the speculative faculties of the Republican leaders in Chicago today. He was floor leader for the colonel in the Chicago convention. Last week in Missouri, Gov. Hadley pronounced an ultimatum that he would support President Taft if the latter would uphold Presidential primaries and do his utmost to upset bossism in the southern States. As a matter of fact, President Taft, it was pointed out by his friends, had already committed himself to the primary idea and has practically abolished the referee system in the South for political purposes.

Just what information Gov. Hadley has received which led him to accept the Indianapolis invitation, is not known. Some politicians even go so far as to intimate that the Governor may have a message from the President to make public in his coming speeches. Gov. Hadley is a native of Indiana and was the leader of the Roosevelt forces on the floor of the Chicago convention.

KEPT NO RECORD.
The statement of Joseph M. Dixon, manager of the national campaign of Theodore Roosevelt, that he had personally collected $25,000 and expended it for Mr. Roosevelt's primary campaign without keeping a record of either receipts or expense, was the subject of general comment in Republican circles. For a campaign financed by the people and launched as a great popular move, the pre-convention campaign of Col. Roosevelt was a fraud on its face, said Joseph B. Keating of the Taft headquarters.

HIGH FINANCE.
"The truth of my assertion," he continued, "is shown by the testimony of the Roosevelt managers. First, it was stated by Mr. Hooker, the treasurer of the Roosevelt fund, that only $131,000 was spent and there was small balance in the treasury. The public was asked to believe this. Then some Rose Flins, who testified that he had spent about $14,000 additional. Senator Dixon when he went on the stand yesterday said that he had raised and spent $25,000, but had not kept any books. Instead of covering their expenditures to $14,000 it is already admitted that over a million dollars were spent and nothing has yet been said about the cost of the Roosevelt campaign in Massachusetts, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, California and other States.

FOUR SPEAKERS AT FAIR.
Elaborate arrangements are being made by the Republican State and national committees for Republican day on October 10 at the Illinois State fair at Springfield. The Republican National Committee will furnish four speakers for President Taft on that day, including Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, Representative E. J. Dwyer of Connecticut, P. P. Campbell of Kansas and former Representative James E. Watson of Indiana, the Taft floor leader in the Republican National Convention.

MINUTE PRIMARY LAW.
Supreme Judges Say There Will Never Be Another One Like It in the United States.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President Taft will be without representation from California in the election of November 5. Not a vote for him can be cast in the State unless it be written in. By decision of the State Supreme Court here today, electors pledged to Taft cannot appear on the November ballot, either as Republicans or by petition as independents.

The date for filing petitions has expired, but were it otherwise that out of a million dollars were spent and nothing has yet been said about the cost of the Roosevelt campaign in Massachusetts, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, California and other States.

In reply to the argument advanced by Taft men that although majorities govern in party conventions and their findings are binding on all party members, the Sacramento convention, which, by a vote of 88 to 13, nominated electors pledged to Roosevelt, had no right to the designation "Republican," because its majority members had publicly forewarned the national Republican party and had pledged themselves to Roosevelt and Johnson, the nominees of a third party running as such in other States.

MAN GETS JOB.

Santa Barbara's Federal Building Will Cost Something Over a Hundred Thousand Dollars.

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 3.—Santa Barbara's new Federal building will be erected by Eugene Schuler, 30 Wall Street, N. Y., for $110,015. Since the third set of bids for construction of this building were opened in Washington several weeks ago, there has been much speculation as to which of the bidders would receive the contract. For a time, because of the

WIFE OF MILLIONAIRE SEEKS SOLACE IN WEST.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

KANSAS CITY (Mo.), Oct. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Heart-broken, seeking solace among friends here, Mrs. Wheeler, wife of Albert Gallatin Wheeler, Jr., a New York millionaire, who left her husband about four months ago, is at the Hotel Baltimore.

She announced yesterday there would never be a divorce and she never would live with her husband again, and that she had no desire to remarry. She admitted she had just received $25,000 for the furniture in her New York home, and was receiving an allowance of $10,000 a year. A few months ago Mrs. Wheeler's time was taken up with affairs of New York's "400." Last January she was chosen a member of the committee to receive the President at the New Year's ball.

A MUSICIAN.
Before she was married, Mrs. Wheeler was Miss Claudia Carlsadt of Boston. When she was a girl she studied music under her father, Dr. Axel Bernard Conrad Carlsadt. Later

River Lumber Company of Charlottesville, Va., whose bid was a little over $118,000, it was thought that this company had at least been promised the work. Because of the many substitutions allowed in the last specification bid, onto which this $105,015 bid applies, there is much uncertainty concerning many of the details of the building. Much of the interior and exterior finishing is included in those portions of the work upon which substitution was allowed in the last specifications.

DAYS OF FORTY-NINE.

Memories of the days of '49 are to be revived by the Santa Barbara Native Sons of the Golden West at a special meeting and entertainment Thursday, October 10. For fear that anticipation of the festivities may inspire too much ginger in some of the guests, the unique invitation says: "The Vigilance Committee will be on tap to keep down any insipient riot, and natives will be compelled to leave their shooting irons in the hall near the entrance."

HEMMEED BY REBELS.

Walter Douglas, manager of the Phelps-Dodge interests in Arizona and Mexico, and a Montecito resident whenever he can get a respite from duty, arrived here yesterday in his private car, and is with Mrs. Douglas at their pretty home at Montecito Park. Mr. Douglas figured in an exciting episode in connection with the Mexican revolution a few days ago, being hemmed in by rebels near Cuernavaca, but escaped to Agua Prieta by means of a railroad motor valoped operated by himself and a friend.

witness before the committee tomorrow. He will be questioned as to his knowledge of contributions by corporations to the 1904 fund and particularly as to the so-called Standard Oil contribution of $100,000, which he had said he ordered returned. The colonel will also be asked as to the financing of the pre-convention campaign for his nomination this year. Mr. Morgan was a willing witness before the committee. At times he chuckled gleefully, as when he told the committee that "there was no limit" to the amount the Campaign Committee in 1904 was willing to accept. Mr. Morgan took his heckling by the committee in a holiday spirit and laughed heartily as in leaving, he told Chairman Clapp that he "guessed" his expenses and witness fees "would be all right."

CALLS MORGAN TIGHTWAD.

Considering Roosevelt's Favors to Steel Trust, Marshall Deems Contribution Not Half Enough.
[BY A NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] WORCESTER (Mass.), Oct. 3.—"I read in the papers that Mr. Morgan gave $100,000 to the Republican campaign fund," said Gov. Marshall of Indiana, Democratic Vice-Presidential candidate, at a rail here today. "If that is all he gave, he is a tightwad." He did not give half enough. President Roosevelt gave him the right in violation of the law to amalgamate the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company with the steel trust. That deal netted Morgan $25,000,000.

CONFESS THE CRIME.

OXNARD, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following the shooting of Joe Rodriguez, three Mexicans were placed under arrest this afternoon and admitted their guilt. They were charged with the murder of Rodriguez as he was driving into this city and seriously wounded him. After the shooting he was dragged a considerable distance by his horse and then thrown. Rodriguez is believed to have been the motive of the assailants.

she studied under Bristol, De Maccabi and Victor Claude. She has lived in Europe as much as in the United States.

Mrs. Wheeler was married in 1898. A few weeks after her marriage she passed through Kansas City in her private car "Sunland."

Later she and her husband went to Europe and were the guests of Ambassador White in Berlin. Next spring Mrs. Wheeler is going to England to live. She expects to try some experiments in English pantomime.

The New York society leader has a number of friends in Kansas City. She is well known among leaders of the D.A.R.

WOMANLY LONGINGS.
For several years Mrs. Wheeler was regarded as one of the most beautiful women in New York society. This beauty she still retains, but sorrow and seriousness seem to have driven much of the snap from her big black eyes. She says the fact that she has longed for years for a real home and children may be the cause.

bathed and put on a clean suit of underclothes, after which he took sufficient cyanide of potassium to kill several men. Elliott was a man of education and had been well-to-do in former years. Recently he had been employed as a piano player in a local pool hall owned by a good deal. He wrote a pathetic note in which he explained that he was tired of the struggle for existence.

New Don't All Show at Once for the Golf Stick Prize Is Offered Only to the President.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
REVERLEY (Mass.) Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President Taft today received the following telegram from a friend in Waterbury, who offers a prize of a golf stick if the President can guess to whom it refers: He is the press and the people. He is the ball in the game. And he is the whole blamed work.
He is the hill in the valley, the Dawning, dusk and noon. He is the large white eagle, And he is the man in the moon.
He is the soothing slumber, He is the soul awake; He is the big cucumber That gives us the tummyache.
He is the fire that quickens The company that insures; He is the ill that cures. And he is the pill that cures.
He is the ruling Russian, And we are the groveling Slaves. He is the Constitution, And the whole United States. The President did not announce what was his guess or whether or not he would enter the contest for the prize.
D.A.R. POLITICS.
President-general says there will be no open fight for office at next meeting.
[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The "administration" will have no candidate to place in nomination as the successor of Mrs. Matthew T. Scott as president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the next annual meeting of that organization in this city next May. Announcement to this effect was made by Mrs. Scott at a meeting of the national board of Scott declaring that she would pursue a policy of "hands off" in connection with the selection of her successor, and added that the fight for president-general of the society would be an open battle.
Mrs. Scott says that she was led to define her position because of the numerous letters she had received from Daughters throughout the country inquiring as to her preference for president-general.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] According to reports received at the general offices of the Burlington and other railroads operating in western territory, division superintendents and agents at the larger stations on the various lines are working overtime to handle the huge volume of orders now being received for freight transportation. Division superintendents of the Burlington at Creston, Iowa, Rockfield, Mo., and other points say they begin work before daylight and continue labor after dark in order to complete each day's task. Similar conditions are reported on other lines.

CANCER MORE FREQUENT.
Disease Once a Specialty Among the Aged Is Now Attacking the Young.
[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Dr. E. A. Knott, director of the London Cancer Research fund, and the foremost English authority on cancer, stated in an address before the American Pathological Society here last night that "practically all of the so-called cures of cancer announced in the last few years are worthless." He added that the only means of saving or prolonging the life of a person afflicted with the disease is by operation.
"Cancer kills one man in every seven," he said. "In one hundred families of one member each, equally divided between the sexes, about sixty-four, or more than 10 per cent., will die of cancer. It is an important cause of death from 35 years on, getting really more so as age increases. Cancer is now becoming more frequent in young people."

Whale Hunter Drowned.
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] The whaling schooner Letitia, which arrived here today, brought the first news of the death of Capt. James A. Macomber, one of the oldest whale hunters of the Pacific Coast, in the waters of the Bering Sea. The captain fell from the rigging of the schooner while all of the ship's boats were surrounding a big whale, and was drowned.

Tried Spiral Dive from Dixie Height to Amuse State Fair Crowd in New Jersey—Upper Plane Came Loose and Aviator Could Not Recover Balance.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
TRENTON (N. J.) Oct. 3.—Charles F. Walsh, an aviator, fell 2000 feet to instant death here today while trying to amuse a State fair crowd by making a spiral glide. Walsh came to the East from San Diego, Cal. He was 28 years old and is survived by a widow and two children, who are at Hammondston, N. Y.

Walsh had been giving exhibitions at the fair all week and was doing fancy stunts in the air with his machine. He was probably 8000 feet high when he began his descent. He was making the spiral descent with the front of the machine pointed almost downward when the upper plane seemed to become loose. Walsh could be plainly seen struggling to regain his balance, but without avail. From 2000 feet the machine dived straight, and Walsh was under it when it struck the ground. Every bone in his body was broken.

GEN. SICKLES SUED AGAIN.

Process Servers Don Garb of Messenger Boys to Gain Entrance to Veteran's Home.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gen. Sickles must answer another $3000 suit. Disgraced as messenger boys process servers today were admitted to the veteran at No. 23 Fifth avenue, and served him with a summons and complaint in the suit of August Hecksher, who claims to own the house. According to Wilbur McKimstry, attorney for Hecksher, the suit has nothing to do with any of Gen. Sickles' family troubles. Hecksher lent him the money in the regular course of business and is enforcing collection only. The process servers said they had been trying to serve papers for ten days, but could not get inside the house, until they borrowed messenger boy suits. When they did enter they found the general and his secretary, Miss Wilmerding. The general denounced them bitterly, they say.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Postmaster-General Hitchcock has created a commission to consider the merits of mechanical and labor-saving devices invented by postal employees and submitted by them for use in the postal service. On the recommendation of Mr. Hitchcock, Congress recently appropriated $10,000 to be paid, in his discretion, as rewards to postal employees whose inventions may be adopted.

The members of the commission are: Robert S. Sharp, chief inspector, chairman; C. E. Trotter, assistant superintendent of salaries and allowances; B. L. Andrus, superintendent of the mail lock repair shop; C. H. Buckler, superintendent of registered mails; W. J. Satterfield, chief clerk, fourth assistant postmaster-general, and A. L. Davis, assistant director postal savings system.

Mr. Hitchcock is of the opinion that the offering of rewards will stimulate the inventive genius of postal employees and encourage them to submit devices that will improve the equipment and expedite the handling of the mail.

PLAN A SCHOOL OF MUSKETEERS
Whipple Barracks, Prescott, May Be the Site.
Gen. Schuyler Visits Scene of Former Labors.
[Special Correspondence of the Times.]
PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Oct. 1.—Gen. W. S. Schuyler, commanding the Pacific military division, has been a visitor to this vicinity, coming especially to consider the availability of Whipple Barracks as the site for a large school of musketry, such as is now maintained at Monterey Barracks, California. A few miles distant near Point of Rocks, a fine target range was established years ago, in a section where natural conditions are of the best for the deployment and maneuvering of even a division of troops. It was the general's first visit to the section since 1873, when, as a lieutenant of the Fifth Cavalry, he was stationed at Ft. Verde, about 100 miles from Prescott. He was taken to Verde by automobile, to view the ruins of what once was the most important military post in the Southwest, where the Apaches were concentrated by Gen. Crook prior to being marched to their new home on the Gila, around San Carlos. At that time Lieut. Schuyler for a while had charge of 1500 Apaches, who proved troublesome wards. The distinguished visitor was received at Verde with all honors, the public school children of the district having been gathered on the old parade ground to welcome him back with patriotic songs.
It has been learned that Adj. Gen. A. O. Brodie of the Pacific division has been promoted to the rank of full colonel and that he is due for retirement next year. Col. Brodie was a graduate of West Point of the class of 1870, but resigned from the First Cavalry in Arizona in 1877 to enter business. He returned to the service as a major of the Rough Riders in 1898, and was discharged as lieutenant-colonel of the regiment. He reentered the regular service from the office of the Governor of Arizona and was made an assistant chief of the Division of Records and Pensions, with the rank of major. Since then he has had service in Washington, Dakota, the Philippines and San Francisco. It is expected that he will return to Arizona after retirement.

STOCKHOLDERS MEETING.
According to a report from New York, a meeting of the stockholders of the Santa Fe system will be held in that city October 24 to consider the sale of the New Mexico and Southern lines to the Southern Pacific and the absorption within the main Santa Fe system of a number of subsidiary lines, including the California, Arizona and Santa Fe. It had been thought that the road noted between Flagstaff and Ash Fork, over the most mountainous section of the line. Millions of dollars have been spent during the past two years on the improvement and double-tracking of this mountain division and in the lessening of grades.

NEW POWER-HOUSE.
A new power-house, to cost $25,000, is being built by the Santa Fe at Williams, to supply electricity for the operation of a modern clock system, now nearly complete, between Flagstaff and Ash Fork, over the most mountainous section of the line. Millions of dollars have been spent during the past two years on the improvement and double-tracking of this mountain division and in the lessening of grades.

The use of a little Gold Dust in your dish-washing will make your dishes brighter, sweeter and cleaner than they ever can be without it. Unlike soap, Gold Dust does more than clean the surface. It goes deep after germs and hidden food particles and sterilizes everything it touches.

Gold Dust does all the hard part of the work without your assistance, because it begins to dissolve and clean the moment it touches the water.

When you have to wash dishes 1095 times a year, the Gold Dust method of saving half your time and half your labor means something.

Do not use Soap Saps, Ammonia or Detergents. Gold Dust has all desirable qualities and is a perfectly harmless and lasting form.

Rules That Will Govern The Times Booklovers' Contest

The contest is open to everybody. Only Times employees and members of their families are barred. Daily for 77 days will be published in The Times a picture representing the title of a book, one each day. Beneath this picture will be a coupon to fill in with the name of the book and the author, together with name and address of entrant.

Cut out the picture and coupon, filling in the book title and author's name, writing your name and address neatly and plainly in the place provided.

No restrictions are placed on the manner in which answers to pictures are secured. Each picture represents the title of one book only. If you are not certain of your solution you may send in one or ten answers to the picture. NO MORE THAN TEN ANSWERS WILL BE ACCEPTED TO A PICTURE. Incorrect answers will not count against contestant if correct answer is also given. And put one answer to each picture and coupon. Extra coupons must be secured and used for extra answers. All answers to each picture must be kept together in compiling your set.

Additional pictures and coupons may be obtained at The Times office, by mail or by person. Answers will not be accepted unless they are properly filled out on the coupons appearing beneath each picture. It is necessary that pictures be sent in with the answers in order that all answers may be uniform.

When you have all 77 answers, fasten them together and bring them or mail them in a post paid package—not folded or rolled—to The Times office, addressed "BOOKLOVERS' CONTEST EDITOR." Prizes will be awarded contestants sending in the largest number of correct solutions. In the event of two or more persons having the same number of correct solutions, the person using the smallest number of extra coupons in the set of answers will be declared the winner. In event of two or more persons having the same number of correct solutions, and using the same number of coupons, an equal interest in the prize tied for will be given to each of the tying contestants, or the persons involved in the tie may choose any one of the other lesser prizes.

More than one prize will not be awarded to any one family, but each member of the family may enter the contest and submit a complete set. Only one complete set (comprising not more than 10 answers to any one picture) of answers may be submitted by a contestant. Awards will be made strictly according to the merit of each separate list. The names of more than one person must not be written on any one coupon.

All answers will be considered on their merits. The first set filed will have no preference over the last set filed; provided only that answers must be filed within the time specified after the last picture has appeared.

The awards will be made by the Contest Editor and three well-known citizens whose names will be announced later.

The correct answers to the series of pictures will be filed with a local trust company or bank a week previous to the close of the contest. Entry to the contest may be made at any time. Production Increased With Special Equipment.

Edmonds Midway Well Has Large Output.

Only News from a Dozen Der- rick Fields.

In putting well No. 1 on section 22, 11-24, again on production the Edmonds Midway Oil Company adopted a somewhat novel method by which a flow amounting to about 3000 barrels has been secured. No. 1, which came in on January 1 of this year with an output estimated at 5000 to 7000 barrels, some time afterwards began to decline in production until about a month or so ago it was only doing some 500 barrels a day.

It was suspected that the decrease was caused by the clogging up of the pipe with sand and rocks, but it was decided not to attempt to clean these out. The well was allowed to go on declining until a short time ago the output ceased all together.

Previous to this an especially designed combined blow preventer with discharge pipe, was constructed and landed on the ground in order that it might be installed over the well as soon as the flow discontinued, for it was feared that the enormous gas pressure might seek another outlet or cause the well to break loose. The feature of the equipment is the fact that instead of the oil being discharged through only one pipe there are four having a two-inch aperture. Two of these empty into a pump hole while the other two are to be connected up with the tanks.

After this equipment was installed the gate valve was gradually opened up. During the first hour the well did about fifty barrels, and during the second hour about eighty-five in a day or two the output had gone up to 1500 barrels a day, and shortly afterwards reached the present flow of 3000 barrels. A tremendous quantity of mud and stones have been issued from the discharge pipes since they have had to be changed three times since the well came in, owing to the friction.

Similar equipment is to be provided for the other two wells of the Edmonds Midway as soon as they come in. Both are now drilling for oil.

WELLS' OUTPUT INCREASES.
The well on the Arcturus property is the Salt Lake field, which was deepened by the Amalgamated about 100 or 400 feet is still doing about 200 barrels a day. This well was formerly only good for about thirty or forty barrels. Its present depth is 115 feet.

The Salt Lake and Sherman field is very irregular. On the Rancho La Brea for instance it is never known what kind of a product will be secured. In this respect the field somewhat resembles the Ventura district.

The Amalgamated is now obtaining a production of something like 4000 barrels a day from its wells in the La Brea Valley, and is preparing to rig up for No. 12. No. 10 is drilling, but is not yet near the oil formation. Well No. 11 with increased production secured by deepening, is doing about 100 to 500 barrels a day.

The West Coast wells Nos. 48 and 49 have both been cemented and are doing 1145 and 2241 feet deep, respectively. The formation through which these wells are drilling is very hard. At 44 on the West Coast division is gradually clearing itself of water and is doing about eighty barrels of oil a day. About 14 per cent water is still being pumped. Wells in this section do not generally flow pure oil for some time after they come in.

On the Arcturus property in the Salt Lake field the Amalgamated is drilling two wells. No. 59 is doing 1044 feet in oil and No. 43, which is 1145 feet deep, will soon be perforated.

Coalinga.
There is considerable activity on section 2, 11-14, in the Coalinga district and development work is progressing at a steady pace. The Spaulding-Coalinga, the Berkeley-Coalinga and the White Creek oil companies each have a string of tools running.

It is understood that members of these companies as well as outsiders have been making plans for a refinery to handle the product of this district. It will probably be located on the San Francisco Bay. Particular attention will be devoted, it is said, to the refining of high-grade lubricating oils if this plant be constructed. Work may begin on this project early in the year.

The Berkeley-Coalinga Oil Company has just finished up well No. 1 with a 64-inch casing at about 318 feet on section 2. Only one string of pipe was used and the water was shut off just over the pay sand. The formation stands so very well. Wells Nos. 2 and 3 have been cleaned out and are on the pump again, producing over seventy-five barrels of very high-grade oil per day. The product carries a large per cent of lubricating oil.

The production of some of Midway's foremost new producers is still holding up well. The Pacific Crude well on section 22, 11-23, is still making 4500 barrels a day. The Boston Pacific well is doing about 2500 barrels, and the Midway Fields well on section 4, 11-23, about 3500 barrels of high-grade oil.

The Mays Consolidated No. 5 well on section 22, 11-23, is being spudded in. In well No. 4 the eight-inch casing was set at 2804 feet. The hole will be finished with cable tools.

The California Counties Oil Company has well No. 3 on the La Brea field, section 4, 11-23, down about 100 feet. This company is also spudding on 7000 acres recently secured on the Castas ranch in Ventura county.

Personal.
Guillermo Hileman, who was sent several times to study oil conditions in this State, has been appointed superintendent of oil development in that country, and will leave in a couple of days to take up his duties.

Mineralogist W. H. Storms has been in the field to inspect the work of the Kern County Oil Men's Protective Association. It is stated that Storms was satisfied with the

THE MOTIVE HIDDEN.

Detectives Trying to Discover Why Collector Took Poison in Hotel. Letter May Tell.

Detectives began an investigation yesterday afternoon to discover the motive which prompted J. A. W. Gates, a traveling collector of No. 624 East Twenty-fifth street, to end his life with cyanide at the Hotel Roslyn Wednesday night.

Despondency over the ill-health of himself and his wife was a theory first offered, but the police believe Gates made his real reason known in a letter he wrote to his wife shortly before taking the poison. This letter was delivered to her, but owing to the shock, she was in no condition to discuss the contents, last night.

Gates also left a note to the police, apologizing for having "put them to any trouble," but explaining that "this had to happen."

Frank Mahr, elevator boy at the hotel, heard Gates' body fall in the hallway as Gates stumbled from his room after taking the poison.

ARGUES WITH A KNIFE.
Madero Sympathizer Is Stabbed in Neck While Discussing Mexican Situation—May Die.

Controversy over the Mexican situation resulted in Manuel Fario of Garvansa, being stabbed in the neck, at the Plaza yesterday afternoon, and the arrest of M. R. Morina, who is held on suspicion.

Fario's throat was cut from the lower part of the left ear to within half an inch of the jugular vein. He was rushed to the Receiving Hospital where surgeons are making an attempt to save his life. Loss of blood caused him to faint.

The suspect will be held in the Police Court this morning. Fario says he is a Madero-sympathizer, and that he was returning from work when he met Morina and the latter began a discussion of the war. Argument grew out of the talk, Fario alleges, and the two men clinched. When they were separated by bystanders, Fario was seen to have been seriously knifed.

Miss Mary Foy, president of the California Women's Democratic League, left for San Francisco yesterday afternoon on the "Owl" to attend a conference of the Democratic State electors in the Phelan building today.

It is to be a flying trip, as Miss Foy is scheduled to return to this city tomorrow morning and greet Mrs. Atherton in the afternoon.

SCHOOLS FOR ITALIANS.
Courses at Macy and Castelar Institutions Will Be Continued This Year—The Teachers.

The Italian night schools, housed for the past year in the Castelar and Macy street school buildings, will continue their work during the coming year. This was decided yesterday when Stefano Torre, president of the Italian Society, conferred with Superintendent Francis and received his approval of the project.

The schools are supported wholly by the Italians of the city, and they teach only the Italian language, history and literature. The instructors are C. Fracchia, R. Calvano, of the Macy and Castelar schools, respectively. A room in each building is supplied rent free by the Board of Education, and last year the enrollment in each was fifty pupils.

Superintendent Francis praised the patriotic purpose of the schools and ordered that the Macy equipment be improved. The Italian board of examiners is required by the ruling of the Board of Education to visit the schools at least once a week and to hold examinations quarterly. They are obliged to submit reports frequently on the condition of the institutions.

Spring Eternal.

DIVORCED AFTER THIRTY YEARS; REWEDS AT ONCE.

EIGHTEEN days after securing his final decree of divorce from a woman to whom he had been married thirty-five years, Dr. Warren Taylor, 63 years old, a well-known physician of Santa Barbara, was married in this city yesterday afternoon to Miss Cora A. Starr, 40, a trained nurse also residing in that city. They have been acquainted for ten years, the doctor said last night, but did not marry until a week after the divorce decree became final. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John M. Schaefer, pastor of the Pico Heights Congregational Church, in the residence of B. F. Hulse, No. 1218 Dorchester street, whose wife is a niece of Dr. Taylor.

Dr. Taylor has been a California practitioner for over twenty years and was formerly a member of the profession in this city, where he had an office for eight years immediately after coming to this State in 1898. He has occupied an office in the Hopkins Block, Santa Barbara, for thirteen years.

He and his first wife lived together for nearly thirty years without a serious disagreement. Seven years ago they separated, and a year ago last spring Mrs. Taylor, who is a native of and was married in Illinois, sought a divorce in the local courts. The physician states, however, that her attorney, former Judge Thomas, of Santa Barbara, whom she brought here to look after her interests, was unable to adduce sufficient grounds. The doctor's own suit was commenced a few months later and an interlocutory decree granted September 15, 1911.

Dr. Taylor denies vigorously that his long acquaintance with the former Miss Starr was in any way connected with his divorce, which was secured on the grounds of desertion. He says further that, to his knowledge, the past and present Misses Taylor were not even acquainted. He does not know where his divorced wife is now living.

The second Mrs. Taylor is a native of Brooklyn, but has resided in Santa Barbara for some years, where she has followed her profession. It was as a nurse that she became acquainted with Dr. Taylor, who says that he never met her in a social way. She has one sister living here, Miss Ellen Starr, who resides at the Percival apartments.

The ceremony was performed here. Dr. Taylor says, because both were desirous of making the trip and of being married where their relatives could be present. They expect to return to Santa Barbara on Sunday.

TURN OF FORTUNE'S WHEEL ALTERS CASE.

A LAWSUIT which reveals fate's vagaries will be tried before Superior Judge James Monroe next Monday. It involves the domestic troubles of C. M. Johnson, who conducts a store in Pasadena, revives his suit for divorce, discloses an unexpected denouement, and Fortune's smiles on Mrs. Johnson.

The papers on record show that when Johnson's suit was tried last year his wife, Susan E., failed to appear. Johnson charged her with cruelty and said she interfered with his business. A decision by Judge

WHEN HOME ISN'T HOME.
Justice Thinks Wife Shouldn't Be Expected to Live Happily With Sister-in-Law.

Living with a sister-in-law, is no more having a home than living with a mother-in-law, according to Justice Forbes, who took under advisement yesterday the marital woes of Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler Haynie. Mrs. Haynie appeared to prosecute her husband for failure to provide.

Haynie testified he had left an order by which his wife could procure supplies through his sister, with whom they were living at No. 921 East Fourth street. The court held that a husband should allow his wife to be mistress in the home, without a rival.

ANCIENTS ADULTERATED DRUGS.
A First Century Note Throws Light on the Practices of the Early Medical Profession.

(London Mail.) There has just been placed on exhibition in the Greco-Roman gallery of the British Museum a small letter which dates back to the first century A. D., and which throws light upon the medical profession of that period.

The letter is written upon a sheet of papyrus about the size of a half sheet of ordinary note paper. The writer was a certain Proclus, a resident of Alexandria, the recipient being a drug merchant named Pecosyis at Oxyrhynchus in the Fayum. The mixture reads as follows:

"Proclus to his dearest Pecosyis, greeting:
"Be so good as to sell at your risk good quality of those drugs which my friend doctor says that he has need of, so that he may bring them to Alexandria. For if you do otherwise and give him stale stuff, which will not suit his purpose, he will be angry and demand that you will have to settle with me in regard to the expenses.
"Greet your family."
The letter was folded and sealed with a clay seal and was indorsed to Pecosyis. It is conjectured that he was one of those Greek merchants who employed native Egyptians to gather supplies for them and prepare extracts and decoctions which they supplied to the doctors of Alexandria and other great cities.

The discovery of the letter affords a new illustration of the unchanging character of life in the East. Many drug sellers of precisely the same character are to be found today in Akhmin, Girgeh and other towns in the Nile Valley.

The tone of the letter indicates that the commercial standards of the drug dealers of that day were open to criticism.

INCIDENT WITH A MORAL.
But the Teller of the Story Does Not Know What It Is—Ras to Do With Birds, Dogs and Cheese.

(Washington Times.) "As I sat in Franklin Park the other afternoon," said Rothven Wallace, whose successful romances have lately brought him into the literary limelight, "a man who had been making his luncheon on bread and cheese throw a lump of cheese over on the greensward. Presently a woodpecker shot down from a neighboring limb, and with a few hasty pecks stuffed his little stomach."

Hardly had he gone before an English sparrow darted from a nearby bush, and in like manner had soon gorged himself. As he disappeared a squirrel came hopping up to the mossy sedge in his paws he sat back on his haunches and made a rapid luncheon of it. As he was just about to bury it, after eating his fill, a blackbird, alighting suddenly near him, caused him to drop it and scurry off. The blackbird looked up on the cheese, saw that it was good, and tarried until he, too, had gotten a square meal. Hardly had he flown before the woodpecker, evidently reminiscent in thought, returned for another meal. Just as he finished a stray dog came by.

"One gulp and the good works of the cheese were finished.
"There's a moral in that incident," philosophized the novelist, "though I don't see just now what it is."

Responsible Watch Repairing

Every watch deserves and should, in all fairness, have a thorough overhauling once in twelve months.

Think of how that delicate mechanism works incessantly 24 hours every day 365 days a year, and never goes on a vacation.

A watch may run longer than a year without attention and keep fairly good time, but the latter end of its life is apt to be shortened. This is expert advice.

BATTLES FOR THE LORD.

The way Col. Roosevelt, Hiram Johnson, Bill Flinn, Benny Cohn, Lee Gates, Ray Eddie and other "Progressive" leaders have been battling for the Lord simply beats the devil.

SOUNDS REASONABLE.

Political prophets say that Roosevelt will not break into the solid South. Certainly not. It is easier for a Bull Moose to pass through the eye of the people than for anybody but a Democrat to enter the kingdom of Dixie.

HIS ASTUTENESS.

A Chinaman in Boston has been nominated for Congress. Without attempting to point out the "charming" similarity between the Chinaman and the Cantonese language we are pleased to observe that there may be worse things in public life than playing politics like a Chinaman.

THE DOUBLE CURE.

A San Bernardino man could not sleep, but one night a snake bit him in the palm of the hand and after that he slumbered as lightly as a child. Other sufferers from insomnia who have no snakes available would be pleased to learn whether it was the snake-bite or what he took for it that put him to sleep.

DANGEROUS.

A prince with a very long name has been expelled from France for violating the gambling laws and is now on his way to America. We hope he does not make the mistake of trying to show any of his Arizona pals some new card tricks, for in that event he would again be expelled and this time he would not go anywhere that it is polite to mention.

CHINESE DIPLOMACY.

Once again are the Six Powers confronted with the blind innocence of the Chinese in international negotiations. It has just been discovered that Hsueh Hsiang-shan, the Chinese Ambassador to Great Britain, has been quietly negotiating with the great European private banking houses for an immense Chinese loan on much more advantageous terms than those prescribed by the Six Powers—and this when the powers regarded the arrangement of their own loan as practically settled.

CONSTITUTIONAL CRISIS.

There is a little principle with a very big name—Schwarzenberg-Rudowicz—in the German Empire which has just passed through a government crisis. The Diet consists of sixteen members, most of whom have strong Socialist leanings, while the government is an appointed affair that cannot be turned out of office by snap divisions. Now the time-honored and constitutional arrangement in the principality has been to divide part of any surplus from the budget into bonuses for worthy officials. Two years ago, however, the majority of the Diet voted to cancel "superior" officials from this benefit (the clergy are included among the superior officials) and nothing would shake their solidarity. So the surplus was "run up" and has been steadily increasing—it now amounts to $165,000. Think of those poor officials' anguish not to know the ultimate fate of so much wealth which might have been theirs, but isn't.

As a last resort the government has now called in a great and noble professor, Prof. Laband, to pronounce an opinion on the constitutionality of the refractory Diet's action. Also, for those poor officials! The learned professor has decided that, in face of a perpetual majority against any clause of the Constitution, the government need have no compunction in breaking said Constitution to meet the new needs of the times!

Now the highly-dramatic question arises, Shall that comfortable sum be divided among "inferior" officials, or are they merely to receive the portion that would have been theirs under the original system? In short, do we rob Peter to pay Paul or merely to benefit the state?

NOT A SQUARE DEAL.

The testimony taken before the Senate Committee of Investigation shows that in the distribution of the funds raised to procure an uprising of the Progressives for the nomination of Roosevelt by the Chicago National Convention the patriotic Progressives of Los Angeles were shamefully mistreated. All that Lissner, and Earl, and Johnson, and Gates, and Rowell got was $17.85 that was put into the hat by their enthusiastic friends here when they departed for the East. Compare this scanty contribution with the largesse from eastern sources that was tossed into the hat of the Big Bull Moose. Bill Flinn coughed up $144,000, Senator Dixon expended $96,000, William Eno, Gifford Pinchot's uncle, gave $10,000; Mrs. Antoinette Wood, Pinchot's aunt, gave $5000. How much the sisters and the cousins of Pinchot gave has not yet appeared. Frank Munsey, Dan R. Hays and George W. Perkins gave $25,000 each, and the Standard Oil gave, and the sugar trust gave. In Missouri Gov. Hadley superintended the local donation party. In Kentucky Edward C. O'Rear gave. In Tennessee George Taylor gave. In Arkansas J. A. Comer gave. In Texas Cecil Lyon gave. In Oregon Don Kellier and Dr. Henry W. Coos gave. In Washington Judge Moore gave. In Illinois "leaders of the uprising" gave, among them Chauncey Dewey, Medill McCormick, Edward H. Sims and Alexander H. Revell. An elevator man in the capital gave $50. In all from $2,000,000 to $10,000,000 was collected and expended to promote the political fortunes of the Big Bull Moose. Wisconsin gave her "moral support" to La Follette. The Progressives of California, the great-hearted, generous Progressives of California gave $17.85 and even this was swiped by the delegation and expended for chewing gum.

It is a shameful fact that not only did the Bull Moose leaders in California get none of the millions contributed in the East, but they have actually been obliged to pass around the hat to shove the hat day by day under the noses of the Progressive leaders of Los Angeles, begging for one-dollar contributions to pay Elsie Gates for weeping, and Chet for chattering, and our steamed coterie for printing romances about the uprising for Roosevelt. No wonder that Tooplous sends a night letter to George W. Perkins (unprepared) saying: "It was all very well to dissemble your love, but why did you kick me down stairs?"

A COURT DECISION AGAINST REPUBLICAN LIBERTY.

The decision of the Supreme Court that the names of electors for President Taft cannot appear on the ticket in November, either as Republicans or as Independents, or except they may be written in by the voters, marks the close of an audacious and infamous conspiracy. The right of a voter to cast his ballot for whomever he chooses, and have it counted is a right that it is not necessary to defend or even to assert. Many honest Progressives will not indorse the crime of the Lissner-Johnson-Earl-Rowell-Gates-Ajar gang in boldly stealing—there is no other word for it—the name and organization of the Republican party. The theft will not benefit political miscreants. The Republicans who would have voted for Taft will certainly not vote for Roosevelt, and thousands of Rooseveltians will decline to share in or indorse the infamous robbery by voting for him. Whether the voters, of whatever politics, who do not approve of this villainy will vote for Wilson, or for Debs, or not vote at all, is a matter that each voter must determine for himself.

The worst feature of it all is not the result to the candidates, for advice from the East show that the vote of this State, however cast, will not affect the result. The worst feature is the shame and humiliation, the moral degradation that will result to California from the transaction. This journal changes not nor falters in its duty. We stand for the Constitution, the political, personal and industrial rights of all American citizens, and in unflinching support of President Taft and the Old Guard.

CHARITY BEGINS AT HOME.

There are advocates of a tariff for revenue only who claim that the Republican policy of protection which gives an advantage to the workers of the United States over those of Europe is unnecessary and unjust, and a violation of the "higher law." Shall a man then not prefer his own nation to another nation, his own family to another's family, his own wife to somebody else's wife? "Whoever provideth not for his own household is worse than an infidel." It is an accepted maxim that "charity begins at home," and while we may have pity for the millions who toil in European workshops for the slave's dole-existence and subsistence—it does not need that we relinquish the policy of protection that has made this nation prosperous, and favor experimental tariff laws, the operation of which might mean the loss of our manufactured goods, and would reduce the wages and the comforts and opportunities of life of the American mechanic, with no certain assurance that they would advance the condition of the European laborer.

Majestic upon the seas are the argosies of commerce, but grander than beating paddle or full-filled sail is the bright, strong, intelligent citizenship that has placed our country foremost among the nations of the earth.

We owe our language, our literature, and our laws to England. We owe to her the bright, brave, strong Anglo-Saxon spirit that never feared a foe nor shirked a contest. We speak with her—

"The selfsame tongue
That Milton wrote, that Chatham spoke,
And Burns and Shakespeare sung."
But industrially and commercially we owe her nothing. She is a vast armed and armored commercial despot. She is the arrogant and cunning peddler of nations. She forces her way into the markets of weak governments. She bribes her way into the markets of corrupt governments. She diplomatically her way into the markets of stupid governments. She is true to the business interests and personal and property rights of British subjects, and she is not considerate of much else.

Trade between America and England will not stop if our policy of protecting the workers in our looms and furnaces shall continue. Jeha Bull does not buy our cotton and grain and meat for any other reason than that it pays him to buy them. If his people would be content to substitute Australian canned rabbits and smoked muton hams for Chicago tenderloin of beef, he would be well satisfied. He will continue to pay foodstuffs of us whether we preserve the policy of protection, or abolish it and adopt the policy of a tariff for revenue only. If we adhere to protection Minneapolis millers will continue to send flour to Liverpool, impetuous British ducks and bankrupt earls will continue to fall passionately in love with American beauties, and the American hog will continue to be well received abroad.

NAVAL CHIEFS.

The European powers are enjoying a highly interesting game of chess, their respective navies being the men and the Mediterranean Sea the board. Owing to Germany's ever-growing naval strength, England was recently forced to withdraw the major part of her Mediterranean squadron to the North Sea, whereas there was outcry in Great Britain and much joy in Germany. For that practically left the great Mediterranean route at the mercy of Germany's allies, Austria-Hungary and Italy.

Now, however, France has quietly established six battleships in the Mediterranean and speculation is rife as to whether that apparently inoffensive entente cordiale between Great Britain and France was not, after all, a secret alliance, offensive and defensive.

Germany in the meantime makes another move and fortifies Borkum, a little island in the mouth of the Elbe. Austria-Hungary calls a special session of Parliament to consider further naval estimates for supplying the Austrian navy with six more dreadnoughts.

Whereupon Premier Borden of Canada makes a fine imperial speech advocating Canada's wholehearted co-operation in making the British navy inviolate. While even Australia, the Socialist colony, puts forth ambitious plans for founding an Australian navy to act under imperial command in time of war.

All and the while Japan is building, building! Her naval plans include seven super-dreadnoughts armed with fourteen-inch guns and six very powerful cruisers. A truly ambitious programme which should give the United States pause.

Russia's vast naval programme was announced two months back, and in view of her alliance with France, her recent treaty with Japan, and all three powers' affiliations with Great Britain, this group may be understood as working in concert, with the Triple Alliance and Turkey in the opposite camp. Uncle Sam looks on unperturbed and concentrates attention on Panama, one of the most important factors in the world's future shipping, warlike or peaceful.

ANIMAL SIMILES.

Many of our favorite similes are taken from the supposed habits of the so-called lower animals, and most of them are naturally erroneous.

Perhaps no more offensive epithet could be hurled at the head of a despised opponent than that of "toad." Yet the toad is the most useful of all the amphibians. He will rid the soil of snails, slugs and even ants. The gardener has no better friend for the protection of his flowers and vegetables. He is not poisonous—he is simply a very humble worker in the vineyard.

Then the donkey has become universally known as the emblem of crass stupidity. No more sagacious animal really treads earth. He has the eye of a post, the brow of a philosopher, and that patient endurance which is the surest sign of genius. When you call a foolish man an ass, it is the donkey and not the human that ought to feel insulted.

"As brave as a lion" is another phrase that Col. Roosevelt, at any rate, knows to be entirely false. The lion is a daylight skulker, a midnight marauder, he will never fight as long as he can make his get-away. Whenever it is possible he always attacks from the rear. No ass would wear a lion's skin to earn a reputation for bravery. The burro is a plucky little fellow. Aseop was the father of the nature-fakers.

Of all birds the wisest and most wide-awake has been singled out as an emblem of silliness and ignorance. Geese are the sharpest of all domestic animals. They can hear an intruder in gum shoes and will give the alarm while the honest watch dog snoozes in his kennel. How a goose saved Rome is ancient history. He is a born devotee. On the other hand, the most idiotic of birds, the owl, has been chosen as the emblem of wisdom.

The cunning of the serpent, though of scriptural origin, has never been demonstrated in natural history. He is cunning neither in the original nor the American sense of the word. He displays neither "cuteness" nor craftiness. The road-runner who starves the rattler by enclosing him in a ring of thorns displays more worldly ingenuity. One notable exception is found in the application of the name bull moose to the newest political party. With his long, vacuous countenance and clumsy shape he does typify the new "Progressives." The colonel understands wild animal life.

UNCLE WALT.

The Post Philosopher.

Now a message and to me comes from o'er the raging sea: "There will be a big revival of the whiskers of our sire." Men will sport their faces' shapes wearing British fire escapes! Oh, against that resurrection let us work and pull the wires! I have preached for many years, I have shed my blood and tears, to discourage British whiskers of the Uncle Chaucery brand, and I thought, with little pride, that I might, before I died, see the last lone set of sideburns banished from this happy land. We who work and watch and pray, bear the burden of the day, teaching that sideburn whiskers show a softness of the brain—we have toiled so long for naught? Do our lessons hit no spot? Shall some silly, foolish fashion make our efforts all in vain? Will you, by your idle fads lead astray the growing lads who have learned the useful lesson that sideburns are a crime? Change the fashion if you must, all our fine traditions bust—but a bitter rebuke will overwhelm the land in time!

WALT MASON.

ABROAD WITH BURDETTE.

The Best Way to Say It.

As to linguistic aids to foreign travel, what language shall you learn before coming abroad?

English. Don't waste your time on the universal language, "Esperanto," which nobody speaks. Just brush up on your English. You don't speak it any too well, you know. But that is the coming universal book. A hundred years ago, to speak by people in Europe spoke English; 19 per cent. spoke French; the same proportion, Russian, 18 per cent. German, and 16 Spanish. Now, note the changes, and the steady growth of the use of English. In 1901 29 per cent. of the European peoples spoke English; 19 per cent.—no change—Russian, 18 per cent. German, no growth; 11 per cent. French, a falling off of more than one-half; and 10 per cent. Spanish. The spread of English had increased 125 per cent. in Europe in a century.

There are 3424 dialects spoken in this old Babel of a world, most of them on their steady way to extinction, along with many of the tribes who speak them.

The Heritage of Babel.

And in all the world, English is spoken by more than 150,000,000 persons; German by 120,000,000; Russian by 90,000,000; French by 80,000,000; Spanish by 55,000,000; Italian by 40,000,000, and Portuguese by 30,000,000. English is far and away the richest language in the world in its variety of expression and wealth of vocabulary. Carlo de Ochoa's dictionary of the Spanish language contains 120,000 words; the Italian dictionary, 140,000; the Russian, 140,000; the French, 210,000; Grimm's German dictionary, 160,000, and the "German Word Book" (Kunze's Universal Last-Com) 300,000, including personal names. The New Standard Dictionary of the English language contains 450,000 words, and if the scientific terminology and archaic words be added, the total will reach 600,000. Of course it's a good thing to know one or two or three languages besides your own. But if you can afford but one tongue, study English. The English and Americans are the spenders in the world of travel. They buy the useless things which needy foreigners make to sell, and they maintain the hotels, paying the entire salary of the servants, and then some.

Now, the buyer doesn't have to learn the dialect of the seller. He really doesn't have to buy. But the man who is after your dollars has just got to learn the common language of your trading and shopping instinct. "English spoken here" isn't painted in its gilded mendacity on the shop windows to display the erudition of the shopkeeper. It's his best advertisement.

The Wandering Sheep.

The other day I made the journey alone, in the course of which I had to pass through Frankfurt, and I didn't know whether I changed cars there or not. When Mrs. Burdette is along one of these things move me. I look out the window or read the funny pictures in Fliegende Blätter with apostolic composure. Because Mrs. Burdette has a way of making all languages "esperanto" themselves for her, and she can make any foreigner comprehend her eloquent gestures and self-interpreting speech. But finding myself alone, I got nervous and every last word of German I ever knew evaporated from my consciousness like the best paragraph in an after-dinner speech.

Obscure Phrases.

I had three German phrase books with me, which I knew were more useless than a slab of conium maculatum when I bought them. But I had nothing else, so I settled down to learn from them what to say in this emergency. It was like finding a petition in the prayerbook for a bishop who had punctured a tire on a rainy Sunday, three miles from church.

I could learn from these books how to ask for everything that a young woman would want to buy on the eve of her marriage. I found the names of everything to eat in all the restaurants of Europe. I found how to ask for pens, ink and paper—no I didn't—I could only ask if the man had these articles, in three different forms of expression, so as to catch him if he had begged him to me. I could find how to tell the "Wachman" to be very careful with my linen. But not one word about the movement of trains.

Just one phrase of German that I learned ten years ago, and have never been able to forget because it is so idiotically useful that it sometimes sings me to sleep on my restless nights, which I never have. That is—

"Um wieviel Uhr stehen Sie auf?"

And what does the fool thing mean? Merely "At what o'clock do you get up?"

A Sall! A Sall!

Well, that wouldn't help me in finding out about the trains at Frankfurt. But just as it began singing itself over and over in my tormented brain, lo, my German Kondukteur appeared. He beamed down on my gray hairs as though I was 7 years old, and handed me a paper, on which he had taken the trouble to write in clear, copper-plate handwriting, the hour of my arrival in Frankfurt, the fact that I must change to another train, the hour at which it would leave, and the number of the "bahnsteig," or station track on which it would go out.

Now, that man knew when he examined my ticket just how perplexed I was, and the first thing he did after he had run through his train was to remember the wandering wanderer, hasten back to set him right and relieve his mind of any apprehension. Hoch der Kaiser, and three cheers and a tiger for the Kaiser's Kondukteurs. They do take a pleasure in taking care of their helpless passengers.

Saying It Too Well.

I returned to Baden Baden late that night and told "My Lady" that I had no trouble whatever in getting through Frankfurt; said I got there at "undzwölfeviertel auf zehn," and got a train on "Bahnhof sieben" "um einviertel auf zwölf," easy as lying.

And she said she didn't doubt it. That's the great trouble with the average man. When he has safely negotiated a sharp curve, he tells about it too well.

Fliegende Blätter: Young Husband: What a glorious day! I could dare anything, face anything on a day like this!

Wife: Come on down to the millinery.

This is the season of the cider mills back East. Don't you remember how they used to squeeze the amber fluid out of the great loads of apples? And then the mug of cider, ah, we can taste it still.

BASEBALLIST AND ACTOR.

WONDER OF WONDERS, DAMEREL'S GOOD AT BOTH.

Upon His Stage Career as a Tenor Behind the Scenes in Old Time's Production of "Prince Otto." With Which He Remained for Two Years.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

George Damerel, whose parents have lived here for many years, and who probably would call this home, if he the Arab, he was to pitch his much-folded tent, will be seen at the Hamburger Majestic Theater Sunday.

Myrtle Vail, With "The Heartbreakers." Majestic Theater Sunday night.

When George Damerel, now a star in his own right. This does not speak very loudly for him, for stars are useless in the theatre. Nevertheless his work in "The Merry Widow" has shown us of his ability; it is a real ability, and he is a genuinely pleasing personality. I don't know anything about his show; it may be good and it may be bad, but at least we are reasonably sure of enjoying Mr. Damerel.

George Damerel the actor-man is the son of George Damerel the business man. There are two sons, and I understand the other is here in town with his father.

Mr. Damerel is a very young man, some ten miles from Macao, and a contract let for further work upon the breakwater. It is expected that the construction upon the inner harbor will now go forward without interruption.

It will be remembered that in 1909 a new city, to be called Huenagchow, was planned—on the site of the old city, to meet the requirements of a twentieth century city. It was to be a free port similar to Hongkong, and thus to be a place of international trade.

For a while work progressed rapidly. The promoters possessed the confidence of the provincial viceroy and seemed to have sufficient capital back of them to lay out the city on the lines proposed. They erected certain public buildings, some stores and houses and pushed forward the construction of a durable stone wall or breakwater in the bay. Then suddenly the work stopped. Revolution was in the air.

Soon a violent outbreak occurred in Canton, and vigorous fighting took place all up the coast. China was in revolt, a dynasty was overthrown and a new form of government set up. What was to be the future of Huenagchow? Was the brave attempt to build a Chinese thoroughly clean, progressive and orderly city doomed to failure? The news which now comes to us from Hongkong appears to indicate that the building process is to continue.

When it is recalled the nearby Macao is one of the vilest cities in the East, the prohibition of gambling and opium smoking in Huenagchow is all the more remarkable. Surely the coming into existence of a new type of Chinese city shows a temper of mind toward modern ways and modern methods which is most encouraging.

If Huenagchow goes forward as now seems probable—the original line proposed, we shall see a model city in the East, one planned, built and governed by Chinese and expressing the new life of an ancient nation. Let Huenagchow be kept in mind when we read some telegram of riots or barbarous cruelty in the interior sections or in the neighborhood of the other Chinese seaports.

Los Angeles Alco Motor Sales Company

Horses and horse equipment such as wagons, harness, feed bins, etc., require twice the stabling space as Alco motor trucks.

Moreover, horses must be stabled somewhere near where the day's work in the delivery of goods begins.

Rent thus is an important item in horse costs. Alco motor trucks may be housed or garaged in the outlying portions of the city, for they do not tire in travelling a distance

THE DAY'S GRIST.

BY NEETA MARQUEE.

I have attended two meetings of the Case Conference Committee at the Associated Charities.

Each meeting proved to be as interesting as a dramatic recital, and considerably more dramatic.

The committee is composed of representatives from as many different churches and benevolent societies in the city as can be gotten together each Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The sit around a long table in the assistant secretary's office, and the assistant secretary presides. She has a stack of yellow filing envelopes in front of her, which she has selected from the official filing cases much as a librarian goes about gathering together the books she wants. Only these are not books. They contain the strictly non-fiction records of human lives.

These cases are taken up in turn, by number in order to perfectly protect the identity of the subject, and the discussed by the committee, who join in making suggestions as to the wisest course of action to pursue in relation to each.

A wide range of cases is handled. Sometimes convicts are arrived at which make an adjustment possible before the next meeting. Sometimes the same case is under advisement for weeks at a time.

One of the latter is of a family who have been more or less dependent on the Associated Charities since their arrival here in June, 1911. There are the father and mother and five children. Both parents have a tubercular tendency. The father has something the matter with his spine, something else the matter with one arm, his side pains him, and he is, in short, quite under the weather. The mother is willing to work out by the day when she has opportunity, but is not fitted for heavy work. The burden of support rests upon the oldest child, a girl of 15.

Open discussion on a case like this often brings about means for temporary aid without direct expense to the association—supplies of clothing or school books for the children, day employment for the mother.

Another case which is hanging fire is of a man who applied to the Associated Charities for an artificial leg. The association made a public appeal for this, but met with no response, so they agreed to become responsible for the price themselves. The leg was to cost $80, and the man, a cement worker, said he would work and pay this sum in installments.

Only $20 has been paid so far, and the maker of artificial legs is clamoring to the association for the balance of the money, or the leg back.

Investigation revealed the fact that the leg was not made according to specifications. It weighed only pounds when first delivered, instead of the five contracted for, and the man was obliged to return it around with him to work, and consequently was unable to earn the money to pay for it.

The manufacturer agreed to reduce it, whether by means of whittling or anti-fat, he did not state. But he lightened it only a pound and a half, and the wearer still complains of it.

The committee decided the bill was not collectable of the Associated Charities until the weight was properly adjusted.

Another case was of a Swedish massage operator, a stranger here, who could earn her living if she could only get patronage, but she had no money to rent an uptown room suitable for business.

The committee recommended advertising in the paper for such a room, with rent to be paid in professional services. This was done, and the woman is now located.

Then there was the young man who said he was just out of prison for three months, but he had been without food for three days. He didn't volunteer this information, but the assistant secretary knew what was the matter with him by the way he trembled. He is house-bound and fed just now, but is yet to be located in a position. He is a drugist.

The young "hobo" who lost a foot when riding a brakebeam, and who promised the association he would work out the price if they would buy him an artificial one—which they are going to do—was also discussed.

So, too, was the case of the aged foreign missionary, unmistakably a lady, now afflicted with the delusion that she has imparted the seeds of insanity to all of her five well-to-do children, because they are leaving her without care in her old age.

And thus it goes. A remedy which does not occur to one mind will to another, and cases for which the right treatment is not obvious are talked over and thought out in a careful and kindly way.

Very thrilling recitals occur sometimes, as in a certain case, which involves a once-bellied, but now aged, man thrown upon charity, four wives, a large estate, a suit for alienation of affections, prominent social connections, an incompetent child, a divorced preacher, a sudden death and other Hilder Hagard-like details. One of the trained investigators, who works part of her time for the Associated Charities, is called "Diamond Dick" at the office on account of the sensational cases she reports.

The present case committee includes representatives from such various institutions as the Church of the Angels, the French Society, the Friday Morning Club, the Parent-Teacher Association, the Hebrew Society, St. Mathias's Church, St. John's Church, the Broadway Christian Church, the St. Vincent de Paul benevolent department, some of the ladies papers and the city nurse.

Some of these ladies have banded themselves together into a Cent-a-Day Society, the proceeds from which are used exclusively for paying house rent for special cases. The payment of rents happens to be about the heaviest single tax which drains the Associated Charities' treasury.

In case the assistant secretary is unable to go to visit some case needing friendly attention, these committee ladies can be called upon to substitute for her.

Any person in Los Angeles who is interested in the charity problem is welcome to be present at the meetings of the case committee, and see for him or herself just how kindly and sincerely these disinterested women are engaging themselves in the welfare of others less fortunate.

Had Tuberculosis of Glands; Now Well

If you are a sufferer from Glanular Tuberculosis, or know of anyone so afflicted, it might be well to investigate this case, where the writer declares after a year of suffering, he found permanent relief and full recovery to health by using Eckman's Alternative, a medicine which has been effective in many cases of Tuberculosis.

"35" Larusson st., Phila., Pa. "Gentlemen:—In March, 1908, I was taken sick and my doctor pronounced my case 'Tuberculosis of the Glands.' Medical treatment did not help me, and on my doctor's advice, I went to a hospital to be operated upon, but relief was only temporary. I lost strength and at times would have cold sweats and fever. In April, 1910, I returned to the hospital, but the continued operations were not benefiting me.

"In the meantime, a friend of mine advised Eckman's Alternative, saying it was good for Tuberculosis. The wounds in my neck were still open and in a frightful condition when I started to take it. After using two bottles, I found I was improving, having gained weight, could eat and was able to sleep. I continued using it until I was well, which was in November, 1910. Before I took the medicine I had three hemorrhages and I have been taking it, I have not had any. On November 11, 1910, I started to work and since that date, I have been one day's work through sickness. I can highly recommend Eckman's Alternative to anyone who is suffering from Tuberculosis of Gland trouble, providing they take it as directed. I am glad to respond with any party desiring further information of what the medicine did for me.

(Signed and attested) JOSEPH B. WHITE. Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung troubles and in rebuilding the system. Does not contain poison, opium or habit-forming drugs. For sale by The Owl Drug Company, and other leading druggists. Trying to Decide Which Piano? See the Mason & Hamlin

It will itself convince you that it fully justifies the enthusiasm in its praise you have heard in every musical circle of late. There are other marvellous pianos and it is natural for those who have already bought to recommend such pianos, but if you haven't purchased yet, if you are unprejudiced, if you will really investigate the respective merits of the high-grade pianos you will gravitate irresistibly to the Mason & Hamlin. It embodies in its construction the desirable features of proven merit found in other high-grade pianos and has, in addition, the TENSION RESONATOR, that wonderful device for multiplying and perpetuating that rare quality, Resonance, without which the voice, violin or any instrument must be considered a failure.

It costs more in certain styles than any other piano, of course, but long after the price is forgotten, the quality will be a constant source of pleasure and satisfaction.

"SHALL I BE FIRST PRIZE WINNER OR ONE OF THOSE 'ALSO RANS'?"

You Know Which of Your Contest Answers Are the 77 Correct Ones!

You are asking yourself these questions now.
You are figuring on whether or not you will cut down the total number of answers you have discovered for the picture.
If you KNEW which 77 out of the total number of answers you have found are the 77 CORRECT ANSWERS, you would be foolish to submit more than just the 77 answers.
But, as a matter of fact, your endeavor in this contest is and always has been to discover these answers.
You have not any more idea today—no one has—which are the 77 correct answers than you had the day before No. 1 was printed.
The only business-like thing for you to do is to submit just as many POSSIBLE answers as you can—just as many answers that MIGHT fit the picture as you can.
You MUST submit the full result of the days of poring over the catalogue if you submit anything less than that you will be submitting a set that represents only a PORTION of the ability and ingenuity.

You would not have entered this contest unless you thought that YOUR ingenuity had a chance of being better than that of others. Then above all things make sure that you submit ALL YOUR INGENUITY, for you will need it all!
There are many people thirsting for that $1750 Cartier, first prize, or for some other of the wonderful awards. THEY will "go to the bat" with the VERY BEST they can submit. YOU go to the bat with the same thing—and you may surprise your relations (as well as yourself,) by cleaning everybody in great style!
For 70 cents, or 75 cents by mail, you can get the Answer Book, and then you can make as many as ten answers to each picture, while requiring only one copy of each picture.
If you do not have an Answer Book you must submit each answer you make on a separate picture with its coupon.
Get an Answer Book so as to submit ALL your ingenuity at the smallest possible price!

HUSKY BOY AND VETERAN.

McLeod and Donovan Are Ready to Wrestle.

Van Court Tells of Dan's Thrilling Record.

Hap Hogan to Second Dan's Opponent Tonight.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

Both Jack Donovan and Dan McLeod are primed to the limit for their wrestling match that takes place at the Los Angeles Athletic Club tonight.

I had the pleasure of meeting both men yesterday afternoon, and each said that he would have no excuse whatever to offer if he lost.

This talk I believe is on the level with both. They have had plenty of time to prepare for the match, and each has taken every advantage of the time.

I know nothing of Donovan other than he comes well recommended as a good man. He is much younger than McLeod, and is a fine husky-looking young fellow. But I will tell you what I know of Dan.

The last match he had was down in Texas shortly before he arrived in Los Angeles. He was matched to wrestle Tom Long, who held the championship of the State. Dan agreed to throw him three times in ninety minutes.

He won the first fall in three minutes and the second in seven. During the second bout, Long hit Dan below his left eye with his elbow and burst his cheek wide open, and he bled something fearful. The mat was covered with blood before Dan put him down.

During the rest a surgeon was called to the dressing-room, and he took four stitches in Dan's cheek. TOO BLOODY.

When Long heard of this he decided that he would not try with Dan again, and gave as his excuse that Dan was bleeding too much. When this talk reached Dan's ears, it got his goat, and he immediately sent word to Long's dressing-room that he need not fear the result of the injury, as he would be on the mat when time was called for the final bout.

Dan was there with bells, stitches and all; but there was no Long, so Dan was given the decision.

The first match of the professional kind I ever saw. McLeod, in was at the old Orpheum Theater in San Francisco, when Parson Davies brought out McInerney and Strangler Lewis. Dan and McInerney were matched for a finish bout, and that wonderful wrestler, Joe Acton, was chosen as the referee.

Acton has always been known for his squareness, and everything had to be on the square when he was referee.

McInerney got a hold on Dan's throat after they had been wrestling for about fifteen minutes, and choked him until the blood came out of his nose, mouth and ears. He was insensible, and Acton gave the fall to McInerney. But he would not let go of Dan's throat and hung on until Acton called him to let go, which he refused to do. Joe said: "What are you trying to do with him? Do you want to kill him?" and pulled McInerney away.

Dan was taken to the dressing-room insensible, and I thought he was dead. After Jim Corbett, George Mehlberg and myself had worked on him hard for ten minutes he came to, but said not a word.

HOW CORBETT CHEERED.

After twenty minutes rest he went back on the stage, and I never will forget what he did to McInerney.

When time was called Dan rushed McInerney all over the stage, first on one side and then on the other, knocking down all the wings, and I thought Jim Corbett would go crazy rooting for Dan.

When he got a good hold on McInerney he drove his head into the mat so hard that he was out, and all in for good, and was unable to finish the match.

They met again later in the year, and McInerney broke two of Dan's fingers of his left hand and dislocated the thumb of his right before they had been wrestling fifteen minutes.

REAL PLUCK.

A man by the name of Taylor was the referee and when Dan was making a protest after breaking two of his fingers, McInerney rushed in and dislocated his thumb.

Dan continued for over two hours and won the match in this condition, finally placing McInerney's shoulders on the mat and holding them so long there that there was no question about the fall. Both Strangler Lewis and Davies were strong against Dan but he won on the square notwithstanding all the odds against him. If there ever was a gamer man in the wrestling, boxing or any other game than Dan McLeod I would like to take a pipe at him.

This is the claim of a man that Donovan meets tonight. While Jack has many years' advantage on Dan, don't miss this opportunity to see an old-timer of the real old school in real action. If you ask Dan his age he will tell you that he is just 35. But he will be fifty-two years old next June.

WELL DR. OBLIER!

If he does not upset the old idea, that after we pass thirty, we are no good in the athletic game, call on me and I will buy you a gin clear.

McLeod will be seconded by Al Treloar and Jack Donovan will have Hap Hogan in his corner.

If Hap disputes referee Epton when he calls a strike he will be sent to the bench in short order. Hap said on him that I have never seen before, if I will surely make a kick, even if they send me to the clubhouse."

MRS. CHANCE DEFENDS CUBS FROM MURPHY'S ATTACKS.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Frank L. Chance, wife of the manager of the Chicago Cubs, came to the defense of her husband and the West Side baseball team today in a declaration in direct contradiction to the statement of President Charles W. Murphy, concerning the drinking habits of members of the team.

Mrs. Chance, who has been her husband's companion on nearly every trip that he has made away from Chicago in the last seven years, says that she has never at any time in Chicago or elsewhere seen any of the club players intoxicated, and brands Murphy's statement as "an insult to men who have done good work for motives other than money."

"For seven years I have traveled with Mr. Chance whenever the club left the city. I have been in a position to judge whether or not the men of the club ever drank to excess. I can say with positiveness that in all that time I have never seen one of the Chicago club intoxicated."

"If the president of the club has seen any such condition I am surprised that I, too, did not observe it, for I think that I had better opportunities for observations during those years than he has had."

"There have been instances where some of the members of the club have remained out after hours without permission. In every one of these cases these men have been reprimanded publicly. In every case they have accepted their reprimands without resentment because of their knowledge that the manager was making no discrimination."

Players of the team think they will play under Chance again, in spite of the wrangle with President Murphy and also Chance's own statements of a few weeks ago that he planned to retire from baseball.

"I do not think Chance will quit; in fact, I feel positive he will not," said Acting Manager Joe Tinker today. "I had a long talk with him and know what he has in mind. It is a good bet he will direct the club again."

With all these baseball players turning star reporter it looks to me as though they would have to send for some newspaper reporters to play the world-series game.

SPORTOGRAPHS.

ALL I can say of the death of Charles F. Walsh, the aviator, is to paraphrase the old toast of the East Indian Mutiny:
"Stand to your glasses—steady. Drink to the dead who sleep. One toast to the dead already Hurrah for the next that dies."

Even for politeness sake, it is no use to deny that the yachting season has been one of the poorest seen in these waters for years.

Whenever you ask a yachtsman what is the matter, he gives you a tired smile and says: "My word, don't you know?"

Well, I'll be the goat; no, I don't know. Unless it is too much automobile. Either it is the automobile, or it's the strange decree of fate that makes a yachtsman always marry a sea-sick wife who crabs the game.

When Caspar Whitney was in California last winter he told me that he believed yachting would never be a popular sport on this south coast—or at least in Los Angeles. You have to ride too far to get to your yacht, and there are too many other amusements to wean you away from your boat.

But don't you care. When Sir Thomas Lipton comes over with his new sail boat they are going to bring him around through the canal. This will be great for Southern California yachting; also great for Tommy's tea business.

Tom McCarry's silver-tongued press agent has favored us with some golden thoughts that begin as follows:
"Joe Levy is still holding on to the

TO SHOOT AT SHIPS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Application has been made to the Secretary of the Navy by the Aeronautical Society of America for permission to have one of the battleships used as a target by aviators at the society's aviation meet to be held next week on the water-front at Oakwood Heights, Staten Island. The object is to have the aviators make a practical test of dropping make-believe bombs on the battleship. Six aviators have volunteered to make this demonstration. The officers and sailors of the Atlantic fleet have been invited to witness the flights.

TWO GAMES ON CARD FOR THIS AFTERNOON.

The Tigers and Senators are to play a double-header at Washington street park this afternoon. This is necessitated because of yesterday's postponement. The first game will stand at 1:15 o'clock, instead of at 3 o'clock, as heretofore.

Immediately after it was found that the condition of the grounds was such that the teams could not play yesterday, Hogan notified Manager Vag Buren that the postponed game would be rescheduled today.

MORE CRIPPLES.

ITHACA (N. Y.) Oct. 3.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The large injured squad at Cornell is beginning to worry football coaches. The injured, including half-back, who hurt his shoulder and will be out of the lineup for several weeks. Capt. Butler, Underhill and Fritz are among the other stars on the hospital list.

MISS MELLUS SHOWS HIGH CLASS WORK.

(A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) MANCHESTER (Mass.) Oct. 3.—Katherine Mellus of Los Angeles was among the winners in the third round of the national women's golf championship today.

Miss Mellus made a grand rally, from being 4 down and 5 to go, to the squaring of the match on the home green, and a final victory on the nineteenth.

She was 3 down at the turn to Miss Phelps, and, after winning the tenth, lost the eleventh and twelfth. With the thirteenth halved, the Californian found her half all but defeated, but Miss Phelps suddenly developed a weak short game and gave up the next four holes by poor putting and iron work.

Miss Mellus squared the match on the seventeenth green, halved the eighteenth and won the nineteenth and the match through errors by Miss Phelps.

MILLERS GOING WEST.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 3.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Fourteen members of the Minneapolis Association team left today for Denver, where, on Saturday, they will practice by electric light in a fixture in the practice schedule of the University of Chicago football squad for some time to come at least.

Lack of a reliable punter and uncertainty in the line are the two bad spots Coach Starg is working at now.

NIGHT PRACTICE AT CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] A white painted ball for use in night practice by electric light is a fixture in the practice schedule of the University of Chicago football squad for some time to come at least.

Lack of a reliable punter and uncertainty in the line are the two bad spots Coach Starg is working at now.

HITS AND RUNS

By HARRY A. WILLIAMS

With the "wet sign" hanging from the front of Washington-street Park yesterday, the fans enjoyed an elevated breathing spell. It would appear that brother Carpenter, our new weather man, does not fully understand the local climate. Under no circumstances should he spring any rain on us until after the close of the baseball season. His action yesterday and the night before, in what we all thought was a wet blanket on a hot pennant race.

As a result of these things the Tigers and Senators didn't attempt to play any baseball, Hogan slipped in to his gum boots reconsidered the Washington street rendezvous in the morning, not halting in the mud and had to yell for help a number of times and called the game off.

Some of the players put in a profitable day trying to put the ball in the corner pocket, while Jim Jeffries looked "flap" his daily defeat at the classic game of peek-a-bo. Postponement always gives rise to innumerable fanning bees, and yesterday was no exception.

Charley Hall's First Game. Charley Hall's name was mentioned in one of these. Both Hall and his wife played on the same team, the Hall-Blythe team. Hall, who is known as the "pinch" pitcher of the Boston Red Sox, played first base in the second game.

Charley cared for that big while Hall was "moving them down" for the Boston Red Sox. When Hall left the game it was minus a pitcher and Hall tried his hand at having a game. He surprised himself and everybody else by letting the other fellows down with two or three hits. That ended Charley's career for the day. He had pitched well, and he had been pitching ever since. He started his pitching career in a "still" and still making a specialty of "pinches." Possibly there will be a "pinch" or two in the world's series requiring his personal attention.

How Wagner's Great Throw. One of those great catches which the conversation to throwing, and made bold to assert that the game does not live who can throw from the plate to second base on a level of six feet. "City" Brecher made bold to dispute the statement.

The same question came up when I was playing with the Red Sox. "City" Brecher made bold to dispute the statement. The same question came up when I was playing with the Red Sox. "City" Brecher made bold to dispute the statement.

was begged to prolong his hump hallooing. The Red Sox make one of the greatest baseball machines of recent years. They are the equals of the Athletics as the latter stood two years ago and compare very favorably with the Chicago Cubs when Chance's club was at its best. The Giants have only one advantage over them, and that is the experience gained in one world's series. To win a world's championship is at once a great honor and a great calamity. From that moment a team begins to deteriorate, not physically, but through internal dissensions. That's what happened to the Athletics, and it will continue as long as human nature is constructed along its present lines. Nearly every world's series develops a hero. Then the trouble starts. The other players naturally feel that they had a hand in bringing home the bacon, and don't fancy being overlooked by the press and public while the other fellow monopolizes the headlines. It was ever thus, and ever will be.

At that, I can't imagine Henry side-stepping a championship if he saw one coming his way.

VARIOUS PUGS ARE VERY BUSY TIPOING. Frankie Conley received a telegram from Willard Bean of Salt Lake offering him a match with Jimmie Reagan for a twenty-round go next month. Reagan recently beat Billy Johnson and it was well thought of in the Mormon city.

Conley's defeat by Harry Thomas was no discredit to him, as he only weighed 118½ pounds and Thomas weighed 128½ and had since beaten Alvin and Johnny Dundee. We hope you get the match, Frankie, and make good.

The Preliminary. Alex, who is to meet Jim Charbonnet in one of the preliminary bouts to the McLeod-Donovan wrestling match, is in fine condition and it should prove an even and interesting match. Young Hall and George Meem will meet in the second preliminary bout.

Jim Corbett Better. The latest news of our old friend Jim Corbett is that he is still improving. This is glad news to us, as Jim is one of the grandest fellows ever in the fighting game.

CAL EWING GETS HOGAN.

(A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—J. Cal Ewing of the San Francisco baseball club announced today that he had signed Willie Hogan of the St. Louis Americans for his team next season.

Hogan, before going East, played in the outfield for the Oakland team of the Coast League.

Some Speeding. MORE RECORDS AT COLUMBUS. EARL JR. AND EVELYN W. SHOW WONDERFUL SPEED. Set New Low Mark for Five-Hat Pacing Event—Winner Was Well Liked to Finish First—Ben Zolock Captures the 2:19 Trot After Grueling Battle With Miss Davis.

(A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) COLUMBUS, Oct. 3.—Evelyn W. the champion racer of the year, met Earl Jr. today on the Columbus track in a race that brought a new world's record for the five-hat class.

Each of the contestants did a mile in 2:01½, the one by Earl Jr. being the third of the lot. The second and fourth heats were in 2:08½ and the fifth in 2:04½. The former five-hat record was made by Minor Heir and The Earl at Terre Haute, in 1909.

Evelyn W. was well liked. Last week Earl Jr. started against her and was distanced in the first heat. Today he never made a break and did not show himself tiring until after Evelyn W. had carried him the first half of the fourth heat in 1:00½. From that time on, the supremacy of the mare was plain. Her only break was in the third heat, Rose taking Earl Jr. the first half of it in 1:00½.

Indapense, the Trojan, and Coach Manning lost all their good nature, but all that could be done was to gnash the teeth in helpless rage. The reason for this rage lies in the fact that U.S.C. needs scrimgage, and needs it badly. With the Berkeley freshmen game only one week off, the team has had practically no offensive work against an outside team. This will be hard to overcome for the freshmen, for they will have to round out the scoring force of a Rugby team.

ON THE LINE OF SCRIMGAGE

BY OWEN R. BIRD

Capt. "Smoke" Returns. Capt. "Smoke" Adameson of the U. S.C. varsity squad, was out last night for the first time this week, after being on the shelf for the past five days with a bad attack of the la grippe. The captain was told to take it easy for a few days, but when the serum was formed he could not resist the war cry and was soon going hammer and tongs. Coach Manning, however, would not allow him to scrimgage hard and he was sent in for his rub down only in the afternoon.

High School Afraid of Water. It was too wet for the Los Angeles High School Rugby squad yesterday afternoon, so after losing the U.S.C. varsity in suspense for several hours, word was sent out that there would be no high school scrimgage. The school team, however, did not mind the rain, but all that could be done was to gnash the teeth in helpless rage. The reason for this rage lies in the fact that U.S.C. needs scrimgage, and needs it badly.

Freshman and Manual. The U.S.C. freshman team will play its last game of the season Saturday afternoon with the Manual Arts High School team on Bond Field. The defeat of last Saturday, is still sticking in the hearts of the Trojan "Pea greens," and they are working with might and main to develop scoring power, so that Manual will be snowed under in the coming fray.

Stanford Looking for Revenge. The U.S.C. team will need every bit of its strength for the coming season. On October 13 the Stanford varsity will face the Trojans on Howard Field, and we might remark that the cardinal aggression is coming south this season, with blood in its eye, and for the sole purpose of getting revenge for the score thrown into Stanford by the Trojans last year. Nothing short of a big lopsided score will satisfy Stanford this season.

Australians' Hardest Game. Following this contest comes the battle with San Clara, which will be nothing easy, but the final test will come when the U.S.C. squad trots out of the training quarters to face the all-star Australian team. This galaxy of stars is said to be the greatest gathering of Rugby talent in the history of the game. We are told that after seeing Australia play, we will know what Rugby really is. It must not be forgotten that this team is picked from the whole continent of Australia, where Rugby has been played at its best for many years, so why would this aggregation be anything but wonderful?

Pasadena and Whittier. There should be a good High School football game the old style played Saturday afternoon at Whittier, when the team from Pasadena High is to meet Whittier High School. Pasadena lost some of its best men last year by graduation, as did Whittier. But the coaches say that the new stuff is good and the figures of the respective teams the intercollegiate champion of Southern California this fall.

He has been suffering with a bad tendon for the past week and Pipal kept him on the side lines, as he was not willing to take any chances with his best ground gainer in the practice games.

Look Out for Denver. The Tigers are to play the first important American football game of the season October 26, at which time the Denver University team is to come south. Denver has the reputation of being the fastest football team in the Rocky Mountains. Because of these reports, Pipal is saving all his star varsity men for the big game. He intends to have them on edge, so the scrubs are getting plenty of chances in the practice games. This is a good plan, for it builds up valuable men for the second string. Lack of good subs has beaten Oxy in the past, but it looks as though this failing would not be noticed this season.

Cross-Country Squads Out. The Tiger long-distance runners are already training for the intercollegiate cross-country runs that will be staged after the close of the football season. Fomona expects to have a team and U.S.C. is at present working up a squad under the leadership of Art Terrance.

Chess Notes. The following game, lost by A. K. Rubenstein, the Russian challenger for the world championship, in the late national tournament at Wilna, is being quoted as evidence that five tournaments within the year have proved too much for the great master's power of concentration, and that he has tired so perceptibly as to deprive his chess in the coming match, which Lasker will enter perfectly fresh.

Big Music of 1912-13—Its Relation to the Coast.

HAVE YOU HEARD OF THE WORLD-TRUST IN MUSIC?

At Opera or Concert You're Paying Tribute to Ricciardi, Sonzogno or Breithkopf & Hartel—Metropolitan Opera, Fountain Head of American Music; Under Complete Domination of Milan, Italy.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

The melodically days have come. Not melancholy, necessarily, nor inclining to influenza, as the spelling might indicate.

But days in which all America, and especially the larger cities, elevate its brow, rub the summer dust off its classic tastes, and peer over the artist list to see what the year will give it in music—real music.

The theatrical business of America, as everybody knows, is centralized. Even more so is the tunesbusiness.

Operationally, the complete power is vested in a single institution, the Metropolitan Opera and Realty Company of New York.

The Chicago-Philadelphia Opera Company can be said to be scarcely more than a sub-corporation of the one, entrenched in the old house of serious acoustics at Fortieth street and Broadway.

The Houston opera exists financially because the citizens of Houston, like one merchant prince in particular, have so willed it. But artistically it exists because the Metropolitan Operaticans graciously permit it.

The concert managers, who used to be proud themselves like a minor lot of evening wolves, now have felt the sweet servitude of big business, and work together harmoniously—as a whole, though indeed there are some feuds which cannot be squelched by means of the common good or civilized war.

Appear or two ago the Metropolitan, premier of wings for a flight into grand world-trustdom, established a concert bureau of its own. It was to get the money going, and it was not a great success, hence the concert managers are still allowed to live.

Here's something which you may know or may not know; modern music, supposed to be an art, is the right of a musical Paganini without thought of the status of base monetary gain, is as closely watched and probably handled as a street-car corporation.

Every time you hear a modern one at the Auditorium here, or in the Metropolitan in New York, or in the Auditorium in Chicago, it's a five to one shot that it is an Italian work.

The millionaire house of Ricciardi, in Milan, is the one great practical music syndicate which has ever appeared in the world.

They own all of Puccini's works, the most profitable opera of modern times, and no wonder they do. They keep up the standard of production that they will not permit any one of them to be performed with an orchestra numbering less than forty instruments.

And they know when you're not the forty!

Walter Hartman once said to me, when he had a real singing organization at the Grand Opera-house, and there was an honest proposal to do something like this, among them "La Bohème": "Don't ever think I could get away with any detail of production not as the Ricciardi specified. They have a representative in every city in the world—at every one of my performances, Ricciardi has an eye in the gallery, and if I reneged on the architect's drawing, a cable would be in Milan before I got up my next morning."

The great rival to the house of Ricciardi, but one not nearly so powerful, is the family Sonzogno, which controls the Leoncavallo and Mascagni copyrights—such masterpieces as "I Pagliacci" and "Cavalleria Rusticana," and such near masters as "L'Amico Fritz," "Zaza," Leoncavallo's "La Bohème" and "Iris."

Over in Germany the great Teutonic publishing house of Breitkopf & Hartel have financial feeters over every country on the globe, and especially do they take their toll of the world's orchestral music and published songs.

So, every time you go to a concert in Los Angeles, Vancouver, New Orleans or Boston, you probably give tribute to Breitkopf & Hartel.

We may say the Franzosians and the Italian on home and XXXX flour, but only subtly sting us back when we sight article be.

There're not in business for art, any more than Sherman marched from Atlanta for an outfit.

The head of the Metropolitan Operaticans, and therefore the head of music in America, is one Giulio Gatti-Casazza, an Italian civil engineer, who was formerly managing director of the Bell.

When Gatti-Casazza took control of the "Met" in 1908, he could not check one word of English.

I guess that Dago Uncle Trust hasn't a little power, over across the water.

His co-director, Andreas Dippel, was after a single season, "found better suited to Chicago."

The really big opera companies of the United States, this year, as last, are three: The Metropolitan, the Chicago-Philadelphia, and the Boston.

Of the minor companies, I know only two, so far, which can lay any claim to real operatic pretensions; they are Lombardi's new company in the West, and Aborn's English-speaking company, in the East, Middle West and South.

Henry Russell, whose Boston opera is in this day nothing but the nucleus of the old San Carlo glorified by Ellen Terry's money and Russell's executive genius, has an institution which, like the Metropolitan, travels seldom. Dippel is getting used to travel, hiking as he does between Chicago and Philadelphia, which cities are having single order of "big music" served for two, a safe economy.

So he, in the spring, is coming clear to the Coast, dragging with him an aggregation almost as huge, and far more uncertain and cumbersome, than the Ringling circus.

Caruso will be, for another year, at least, the operatic king of New York, but as familiarity will slightly dull any season, the most talked-about individual on the American operatic stage this year will be an enterprising importation of Mr. Dippel's.

One Titta Ruffo. Twenty-seven years of age, and beyond question the greatest Latin baritone of modern times.

With a voice which, in its baritone timbre, corresponds only to Caruso's, he combines colossal acting ability. His greatest performance is said to be Hamlet, and they—the continental critics—declare that he is the first man who ever really galvanized American Thomas's weak-tea setting to Shakespeare's gigantic life-drama.

Dippel, who is learning to be a pretty smooth diplomat, now that the Italian has jugged him around for a quartette of years, and have at last gotten his German blood stirred up, has probably gipped New York out of any chance to hear Ruffo at all.

He comes over for a very limited series of performances, and those performances, every one of them, have been absolutely fixed, even as to the date, in Philadelphia and Chicago.

Ruffo receives the pitiful little stipend of $3000 every time he sings, and I am told that a Philadelphia millionaire is guaranteeing to pay the deficit should his name and performance not draw that extra money into the theater.

Sounds reasonable, for Philadelphia, not Chicago, will receive his American debut.

Of particular interest to Angelenos is Dippel's great liking for our little Edna Dargch, who will debut at Philadelphia as Cinderella, in Massenet's "Cendrillon."

George Macsal, the velvet-voiced Frenchman who starred with the rest of the Paris Opera Company on the Pacific Coast last year, has also been taken under the wing of Dippel, and will be a Chicago-Philadelphia star.

Of American operas two at least look promising.

One is Walter Damrosch's setting to "Cyrano de Bergerac," and the other is a new opera by Horatio Parker, the author of "Mona."

We will have here this year, for the first time, the new works of one Wolf-Ferrari, whose "Secret of Summertime," "Inquisitor's Women," and "The Jew of the Madonnas," are masterpieces all.

And they tell me that so masterful is the operatic management which produces these pieces that Wolf-Ferrari, for filling our greatest opera-houses, sometimes receives as much as $400.

Not having the acquaintance of Wolf-Ferrari or his financial secretary, I cannot, however, vouch for this statement.

In the orchestral field, the foremost will be the great German Dr. Carl Muck, again the conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

To those who have Katsenjammer ideas of the German musician it is hard to convey any adequate conception of this powerful, plow-jawed, lean, athletic, splendidly-dressed man of 46, whose culture is a world-culture, who brings to the orchestral platform the same virility—manifested in another form—which has made American business great, and whose baton, when it "cripples" through a crescendo, pulls the whole band after it in a thrilling tidal wave of sound.

Behrman has announced, on his all-embracing lists, almost every concert artist of note to appear in America this year.

It might add, however, that Morris Rosenfeld, the great Austrian pianist, has just decided to come over.

Andreas Dippel, endeavoring to pull another big coup, failed. He could not induce that veteran tenor, Jean de Heere, to come back to America, hard as he might try.

Our first taste in years, and our longest taste so far, of the soul-vlands of the operatic trust, will come in March, with the week's visit at the Auditorium of the Chicago-Philadelphia Company.

BLEAKLEY RADLEY HUNT. SPARTA (III) Oct. 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At the Randolph County Fair 15,000 persons at 8:30 o'clock this afternoon saw Bob Bleakley of the Benoit Aircraft Company, St. Louis, fall in his airplane in making his descent.

The airplane went to pieces and he was dashed to the ground with tremendous force, the airplane falling on him. He was picked up unconscious and conveyed to a hotel, where he was found to be badly scalded, but no bones were broken. The association has wired St. Louis for another aviator for tomorrow.

Chinese Way of Keeping Fruits. [American Wine Press.] It is a common practice of fruit merchants in China to keep perishable fruits in fresh condition by the use of large and very thick earthen jars. A quantity of broken ice is put in the bottom of each jar and upon this is placed a woven wicker basket in which the fruit is kept. The jar is closed with a wooden cover which often has a strip of felt around it to make the insulation as complete as possible. Dr. Meyer says it is wonderful how well this simple contrivance serves its purpose.

M'GRAW THINKS BOSTON TEAM IS VERY GOOD ONE.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—It is estimated that the receipts from the opening game in the world's series here will exceed $50,000. The high-water mark last year was $77,000, but it was charged that many seats, which fell into the hands of speculators remained unsold.

Under the new arrangement it is figured that all of the 30,000 seats, 12,000 at $1 each, and 17,000 at $2 each, will be taken, and there will be standing room for a few thousand more in the broad promenade in the rear of the grand stand. The commission will see to it that the rules and regulations of the fire department are strictly observed so that aisles and exits will be kept clear.

Secretary Heydier of the National League was much pleased today with the arrangement for his sale of tickets. His figures on the reserved seats already allotted show that the National Commission has reserved seventy-five seats, the Metropolitan newspapers, 1,000 seats; the New York National League club stockholders, players and officials, 1,500 seats; and others connected with other clubs, 2,150 seats.

BOSTON EXCITED. TICKETS HANDLED OUT. (BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) BOSTON, Oct. 3.—Delivery of world's series reserved seat tickets for the games that are to be played in Boston began today. Notices were mailed to applicants last night to call at the club headquarters for the tickets that have been allotted them. The officials plan to have the distribution continue from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. every week day until the opening home game of the series.

The temporary seating arrangements have been completed and the field has been put in the best possible shape. The diamond has been regraded, every pabble has been hand picked and heavy rollers have been hauled back and forth over the in-

MASON FLYER WINS BIG RACE.

Roberts Captures Honors in Automobile Classic.

Hastings and Chandler Finish Second and Third.

Harry Endicott Is Victor in Wisconsin Trophy Event.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

WAUWATOSA RACE COURSE (Wis.) Oct. 3.—Mortimer Roberts of Jersey City, N. J., today won the 230-mile Pabst trophy automobile race with a Mason special car over the Wauwatosa race course after a field of eight starters had been trimmed down to three by minor accidents.

Roberts's time was 3hr. 45m., 53.71s., or an average of 55.4 miles an hour. Harry Hastings of Chicago, with a Fal special car, finished second, and Bill Chandler of New York, driving a second Fal car, was third. The last two were many laps behind Roberts and finished after darkness had fallen over the course.

Harry Endicott of Muncie, Ind., driving a Mason special car, romped away with the 175-mile Wisconsin trophy race with but one contestant against him after the fourth lap. Three Mason special cars were the only starters in this race.

Endicott's time was 3hr. 6m., 44.75s., or 55.3 miles an hour. George Mason of Mason City, Iowa, finished second in the Wisconsin trophy race, but was several laps back of Endicott.

Hughes Hughes, with a Mercer, and Dick Pullen, with a second Mercer, furnished the pace for the half of the Pabst trophy race, but each had mechanical trouble that put them out of the race.

Mud and threatening skies kept thousands of spectators away from the course during the morning. Fred Wagner started the Wisconsin and Pabst trophy races at 1:30 o'clock. Nikrent, driving a Case car, was sent away first, and Rooney, with a Borgwardt, second. The other nine starters were sent away at thirty-second intervals.

Frank Kulick, with a Ford special, and John Heber, with an R.M.F., withdrew from the Wisconsin trophy race before the start.

Nikrent and Rooney withdrew at the end of forty miles, having broken rods on their respective cars.

Hughes was forced to withdraw at the end of 175 miles in the Pabst trophy event because of burned-out bearings in his car. Pullen then led, with Roberts second.

Pullen, one lap after Hughes led the race, also was forced to withdraw, leaving Roberts in the lead and thirty miles to go. Hastings was second.

MUST INCREASE VEGETATION. Land Must Be Made to Yield Larger Crops or the World Will Starve. Science Can Do This.

[Washington Star:] A new theory for increasing the yield of vegetation to the acre has been explained to members of the Botanical Society of Washington by Prof. Hudo de Vries, director of the botanical gardens of Amsterdam, Holland, at a special meeting held in his honor at the Cosmos Club.

Prof. de Vries spoke of the increasing population of the world, and of the rapid exhaustion of the fields, and declared that only great strides in science could save the world of the future from starvation.

"Science must be found," he said, "of obtaining a greater yield from each acre than is possible today. Science has done much to aid in this, but the work which has been accomplished so far is but the laying of a foundation for the work which must follow."

"Up to this time it has been possible to maintain the increase of production with the increase of population. But what are now needed are entirely new forms of plant life, as the present possibilities of selecting and combining the best strains are being rapidly exhausted. Experiments are now laying of a firm foundation for producing new forms of plant life."

"I have nothing better than a theory at present, but I hope to prove it practicable. What I propose to do is to study each form of plant life, and find ways in which nature combines the best in strains to reach the perfect production. Then, by experiments which would be made to produce the very highest life, it may be able to breed a plant which will produce more than the form of life nature achieves."

Prof. de Vries is called the "father" of modern thought in plant and animal breeding and is a recognized authority on such matters. He bears honorary degrees from practically every large university of Europe and the United States and has been significantly honored by royalty for his scientific achievements. He is visiting this country for the purpose of conferring with agricultural officials in this city and elsewhere. He will leave Washington tomorrow for the South, where he will search for new specimens of the forms of life with which he has experimented in Holland.

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: The chin strap! It is many and various, much advertised and by some considered a necessity. Recently the Beauty Specialist explained to me why the one which she sells is far superior to all others. It is said to contain no rubber. Now, rubber is vaunted by other makers as being the one essential to efficiency in chin straps. But, we are told by this particular specialist that rubber causes the skin to wither and therefore it should form no part of the chin strap. This one is declared to cause the banishment of the double chin, to strengthen the muscles of the neck, so that there are no wrinkles and to turn upward the sagging corners of the mouth. If it will really do all this, as claimed, it is surely worth more than the price asked for it.

Some time ago I said to the man in charge of one of the best shoe departments on Broadway: "If they would make shoes with white vamp and black tops, it would suit me better." And I explained that I find, after one trip the length of Broadway, the tops of my white shoes, immaculate when I started, are of a grayish tint, while the black vamp is as white as ever. This is often the case, when my gown is perfectly fresh, as the reflection is not upon that, but upon the condition of the street, or the atmosphere. Especially is this true, since our skirts are long. Doubtless you all have had the same experience.

Yesterday, "the man" called me up and asked me to stop in and see something, as I passed along Broadway. I did so, and found a pleasant surprise.

There was the very shoe about which I had dreamed. "I had it made," said he, "and really I believe it will be a success."

I think the shoe even more beautiful than I had imagined, and it is certainly a fine expression of the season's popular black and white.

The vamp is of white nubuck, and the top of black suede. The sole and heel are of shining black and similar. I think it very pretty. I wonder if you will like it as well as I do? It is, of course, made up in a high-class shoe, as it is for dressy wear.

Craftsman Mahogany.
In a Spring-street furniture store there is something new in furniture. "Craftsman mahogany," it is called. It is furniture upon the long, simple lines of the craftsman styles which we have been accustomed to see developed in turned oak and similar woods, but this is made from mahogany. I like it. It is rich and simple, yet not too ornate for use in modest homes.

Opportunity Umbrellas.
While it was pouring and I was with a friend of mine, because it had a gleaming of the ribs acquired during the summer season when it had firmly fixed in its umbrella-mind that it was forever more to be a creature of leisure, my eye alighted upon a sign, in a Broadway jewelry store, which brought both my umbrella and myself to a standstill. "Umbrella! It came," it said; and there were shown several umbrellas, quite fine enough to carry to church, or else, where. At first I thought it a joke; but I determined to "take a look." He said "Yes. Just as an advertisement, we shall present those to our customers on Saturday morning. I do not know how many will be thus favored but I mean to see, don't you? I do dislike to spend real money for umbrellas."

"Bargain Customers."
"Never before," said the critical woman, "have I been taken for a bargain customer." She had asked for silk petticoats, and the floor walker had directed her to the "lower floor." But when it was explained that the lower floor, that establishment was far removed from the usual basement, as upon that floor were carried high-class garments, with special sales articles at lowest prices, the critical lady relented and took a look. When she learned that the basement was as light as airy, as well-stocked with excellent goods, as is the second floor of many other houses, she decided to purchase. You see it is all a matter of prejudice, and a second floor may be second in several ways. It may be second in location, either up or down, and it may be second in price but not in quality, or it may be simply approached by means of a stairway in one direction or another.

Rainy Day Skirts.
With the present long skirts, which are growing longer day by day, we shall be obliged to return to the fashion of "rainy-day skirts."

Troubles of a Tailor.

FIT OVER SUIT AND SUIT BECAUSE OF FIT.

IT AM no Ben Brummel, but this isn't a fit, it never was a fit, and it never will be a fit," declared Harry R. Snyman, a real estate dealer in Justice Forber's court yesterday.

"On the contrary, it fits beautifully," declared Charles Levy, a tailor, No. 448 South Spring street. Levy sued Snyman for $10, the price of the suit.

"The suit," decreed the court to Snyman. "Then we shall see."

"I am too stout for the coat," protested the really man as he struggled into it.

"No, Harry," said Mrs. Snyman. "Look, your honor," Snyman looks in. "It fits like a finger in the hand."

"It's not a perfect fit. I think it might be a fit for $11, second-hand. I shall judgment for the plaintiff in the amount. Here, let me try it."

Off came the judicial coat. "You are too stout, too," said Snyman. "We have a common grievance here. Nature and tailors, your honor."

"Alas, yes," said Justice Forber. "Never could pick up a bargain. Does anyone in the courtroom want a good suit cheap?"

A spectator stepped forward. Levy eyed him, Snyman measured him at a glance, the court appraised him critically.

"I think you'll do," said Levy. "To suit about the waist," asserted Snyman.

The spectator retired to the judge's chambers and proceedings were suspended until he had put on the suit.

"It won't do," he said at length, pointing a finger through the door. "I don't dare come out; I can't keep me up."

Well, speculated the justice, wearily, "I always like to settle these cases so everybody will feel happy about it. But I can't run a second-hand clothing establishment forever, in court."

eye brows are cut from red pimenton. These startling "cakes" are quite necessary to use at the commencement of a dinner or a luncheon.

For Your Skirt.
The handy girl has a new device for keeping her skirt from rumpling. To the end of a piece of baling twine she attaches a curtain ring and at the other the fastening from an old side-garter. She makes two of these hangers and when the garter fastenings are attached, the belt of the carefully folded skirt and the rings are used with the hook to hang the garment to the closet hook. There is no mussing; but on the contrary the skirt comes forth in the morning looking as though it had just been returned from the tailor's.

Fashion's Smile.
Even the new tailored collars have not escaped the Robespierre fashion. They have the long pointed effect and roll away from the throat in real Robespierre fashion.

Lacy openwork effects are used very much and are so delicately constructed as to admit of being used interchangeably with laces of moderately light weight.

The new pleated dresses cling closely to the figure and are made in such measurements that they could not be out to any great extent, even if the pleats were drawn out.

There is a tendency toward small hats; but the most important thing is not the size, but that it should be simple and becoming. The most successful hats are always simple.

Charming, however, are of white satin are trimmed with black chintilly lace. One very pretty model of apple green velvet has a black messaline draped over the skirt and bodice.

AGITATE FOR SUBWAYS.
Members of Federated Improvement Association Getting Ready to Make a Stir in That Direction.

Believing that the time is opportune to agitate for subways to relieve traffic congestion, several prominent members of the Federated Improvement Association spoke in favor of getting to work at once at last night's meeting in the Chamber of Commerce.

The subject was first suggested by Joseph Meeser. Attorney Gould and others took up the matter, declaring that while it might be a long time before the city would be able to construct subways, it is well to arouse public opinion. Several present told how successful are the subway systems in some of the great eastern cities and said that Los Angeles will soon reach a point where surface tracks will not be able to carry the increased traffic.

The matter will be taken up more in detail at the next meeting.

It was also decided to study the two proposed charts for the city and county and at a special meeting to be held a week from next Thursday night, a committee will make a report as to some of the provisions of the charters and the advisability of endorsing the same.

On behalf of the Diete Society, General Williams extended an invitation to all members of the association to attend the southern dinner and reception to be given at the Ebell Club the 25th inst.

The Point Firm Improvement Association voted a member of the Federation and five delegates will represent the San Pedro organization at future meetings.

NOT IN THE BARGAIN?
Woman Objects to Hotel Bill and Wins Judgment From Landlord Who Sued Effects.

Declaring that Mrs. Harriet Canfield, proprietor of the Hotel Canfield, No. 438 South Flower street, had illegally retained a trunk, suitcase and traveling bag to satisfy an unpaid debt, Mrs. Canfield will, on Oct. 17, go to Justice Summerfield's court, where Justice Canfield of Hollywood occupied the bench for the afternoon.

"I want to the hotel to work for my room," testified Mrs. Fudge. "Sometimes I was for four hours a day on duty, and I often gave up my evenings. Then a bill came in for $20 at the end of the month; but I wouldn't pay, as I couldn't get my baggage for me."

"She locked me out of my room when I had nothing but my kimono," testified Mrs. Elizabeth Sykes, a friend of Mrs. Fudge's. "That was because I wouldn't pay my room rent."

"Those things are untrue," protested Mrs. Canfield. "I took the girls when they were under 16 years of age. I was a home in exchange for slight services. Mrs. Sykes wasn't well, and I even took care of her when she was ill. The bill was justly due me from Mrs. Fudge."

Mrs. Fudge said she is a stenographer for the Brunswick-Bell Company. Mrs. Sykes is seeking work. They were represented by Attorney Schultz.

INVESTIGATE EMPIDEMIC.
Supervisors Fridham and Butler, Foreman Hubbard and members of the grand jury passed part of yesterday morning at the residence of Chief Deputy District Attorney Hanna concerning departmental changes and appropriations for the coming year, as preliminary to the grand jury's report to Superior Judge Willis.

An epidemic of diphtheria broke out at the Detention Home some weeks ago and it is understood that the grand jury is investigating.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

INCREASE PAY OF TEACHERS.

Pasadena Board of Education Displays Generosity.

Lawyers Fail to Report Legality of Bonds.

Gertrude Atherton Cancels Her Crown City Date.

PASADENA, Oct. 3.—The Board of Education held a special session yesterday and raised the salaries of most of the teachers at both the high school and grade schools. The maximum salary at the high school was fixed at $1400. At the grade schools the maximum year's salary was increased from $1000 to $1300. It is understood, however, that the increase will be made gradually and that probably no teacher will reach the maximum figure for two or three years.

This year principals at the various schools will receive their salary in twelve monthly installments. The teachers will receive theirs in ten installments.

The increase of the high school teachers will be $100 a year until the maximum is reached, while at the grammar schools an advance of $100 will be made this year, with $50 each succeeding year, until the limit is reached.

INTERESTING STUDY.

A class in metal work and leather-working is the latest feature added to the course of study at the Pasadena High School. The work is for both boys and girls of the second year, and it has been taken up with much interest.

In the metal work the students are doing copper largely. They have completed glasswork with this and are working lamps and other objects of practical use.

The leather tooling is no less interesting and a large supply of hand-books are soon to reach the class.

The enrollment at the high school has increased from 1074, which number of pupils registered on the opening day of the term, to 1260.

CARY-ARMSTRONG WEDDING.

Miss Lucile Virginia Cary, just sweet sixteen, the daughter of Mrs. J. N. Burnes, of Oak Knoll, decided a week ago that rather than carry out her plan of going East to attend boarding school with her younger sister, Miss Beatrice Cary, who left at that time, she would prefer to be married. Consequently the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Burnes was the scene last evening of a charming wedding. The bride was Miss Lucile Cary and the groom was Mr. Earl VanOrman Armstrong in holy wedlock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Leslie E. Leonard in the presence of seventy-five invited guests and preceding the nuptials a concert was given by Mrs. Willis N. Cary, with Arthur Nelson at the piano. The selections were "Beloved This Morn," and "The Tear at the Parting." The bride and groom were accompanied by an orchestra which gave the wedding march when the bride and groom entered the room, and during the ceremony, "Beloved This Morn," and "The Tear at the Parting." The bride and groom were accompanied by an orchestra which gave the wedding march when the bride and groom entered the room, and during the ceremony, "Beloved This Morn," and "The Tear at the Parting."

HAPPY REUNION.

A happy reunion occurred yesterday when Mrs. Isaac Fritwney of Orem, Utah, arrived in Los Angeles. She was accompanied by her son, Mr. Frank Fritwney, who is now a resident of Los Angeles. The reunion was a most interesting one, and the guests were most hospitably entertained.

ALHAMBRA.

ALHAMBRA, Oct. 3.—A series of burglaries perpetrated some time ago at 1 o'clock this morning have left a trail of blood and destruction. The burglars entered the building by the rear door and made off with a large amount of cash and other valuables. The police are now searching for the culprits.

ACTION POSTPONED.

As the opinion of the Los Angeles firm of O'Connell, Stevens & McElroy, who are to pass on the legality of the proposed bonds, has not yet been received, the action has been postponed until a later date.

NOVELIST CANNOT COME.

Mrs. Gertrude Atherton, who was to have been the guest of honor at the luncheon given for her at the State for Governor Wilson, will not speak in Pasadena after all. It was learned yesterday that more dates had been set for her than she can fulfill, and consequently she will not speak in Pasadena next Saturday night, as had been planned.

NEW BRANCH POSTOFFICE.

A new branch postoffice has been established at the corner of Colorado street and Euclid avenue, and another is being planned for a location at North Lake avenue. The one at Colorado street and Euclid avenue is in the drug store. It was the intention of Postmaster Wood to have this one and the one to be established on North Lake avenue simultaneously, but there has been some difficulty in finding a place for the latter station.

LUNCHEON BE PLANNED.

State Senator Frank M. Lovett

and Charles E. Shook, both of Oakland, will be the speakers at a luncheon that the Board of Trade will give at the Hotel Maryland next Thursday.

The organization yesterday received a telegram from Senator Leavitt stating that he accepts the invitation extended to him to speak, and that he will be present. Both of the visitors will discuss the proposed State constitutional amendment permitting the consolidation of cities.

READY FOR WORK.

The physical culture class of the boys' department of the Young Men's Christian Association will be resumed for the winter next week, and already extensive plans have been made. A broad policy has been adopted, and more boys will benefit by the opportunities than did last winter.

THEATERS ARE OUT.

The Tournament of Roses Association is sending out posters advertising this winter's tournament. Over 10,000 copies are to be printed, and they will be posted throughout the country.

CHAOS COMES FROM LABORS.

Long Beach Charter Committee Not in Harmony.

Managerial Plan Does Not Meet With Approval.

Angeleno Is Arrested on Complaint of a Girl.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 3.—Despairing of convincing the Charter Revision Committee that the people should be permitted to vote on the question of adopting the commission form of government, at the same time that the managerial plan is presented, the advocates of the commission form are preparing a complete charter with that plan, which they will carry to the Council direct and offer as an alternative to the committee's two plans of managerial and aldermanic government.

In their proposed charter the most objectionable features will be eliminated—the absence of any check on the commission in the handling of city funds. This has been accomplished by making the office of auditor elective and by making the auditor a member of the council.

It developed today that the members of the Revision Committee are not entirely satisfied in their minds as to the success of the managerial form, which some of them say is only theory and has not been worked out from practical application and therefore there is a strong suspicion that when the Revision Committee finally comes to the matter tomorrow evening the managerial project may meet with defeat as the vote of the fifteen are required to adopt the scheme for presentation to the Council.

Some members of the committee have taken no active part in the matter and the Revision Committee is on condition that the amendments to the present aldermanic form of government covering present and future legislation.

NEWS BRIEFS.

At 4 o'clock tonight, the dividing line between night and day was as the electric lights flashed on throughout the city, curtains which have hid the windows of the leading business houses all day were dropped and the city was again in the light of the first fashion show ever attempted in Long Beach. Though not as pretentious as the recent one in Los Angeles, it was a creditable presentation of artistic decorations and a clever arrangement of the latest fashions in fashion and was viewed with interest by the throngs.

and other meetings may be held for the mutual benefit of the community and so be useful to the older residents of that locality. The plans adopted were drawn by Architect Paul F. Higgs, and provide for four rooms to be used for school purposes and an assembly hall for general use, which shall take the place of the student hall. It is believed that this proposition will eventually satisfy those who were not at first in favor of such a small building for that part of the city. NEWS BRIEFS.

Residents of a flat near district driving east of the city limits, and at present in the Alhambra school district, filed a petition with County Superintendent Campbell, requesting that the district be annexed to South Pasadena school district. A hearing was held, and Keppel stated that he would recommend to the Board of Supervisors that the portion of Alhambra lying north of Huntington drive and extending to the Pasadena boundary on the north and Elm street on the east, comprising 240 acres of school district, be annexed to the South Pasadena school district. It is claimed that there are twelve children there who wish to attend the Huntington school, because it is closer, and to avoid crossing the four-track Pacific Electric Huntington drive, and the automobile boulevard.

SOUTH PASADENA, Oct. 3.—At an important meeting of the Outfall Trunk Line Sewer Commission held at Christopher's No. 131 South Broadway in Los Angeles, this morning, it was decided to have William J. Carr, City Attorney of Pasadena, draw up a tentative bill for presentation at the Legislature, forming a sewer district. Mr. Carr said that the bill would be submitted to the various City Attorneys of the district interested for suggestions and approval. There was much more conflict. Bar was very attractive and active all day and night. At 4:00 Hamilton was very active. It looks as if Franklin and Anne are being consensated. The widespread strike in the upper part of Utah and Nevada is seriously hurting the oil industry. It is estimated that it will cost the industry $100 million in lost production at 200,000 barrels a month. Consensus should be reached in the next few days. The strike in the upper areas, but those of established with good management will surely still happen.
